

Another step towards protecting 172 homes

By Philip Evans

RESIDENTS whose properties are threatened by the crumbling cliffs of Lyme Regis have welcomed the decision by West Dorset District Council planners to approve the £20 million scheme to protect the eastern end of the town.

If funding is forthcoming for phase four of the coastal protection scheme, as is expected, the road into Lyme Regis from the east and 172 properties in Charmouth Road, Church Street and East Cliff will be protected for the next 50 years.

Engineers have warned that if the work is not carried out a large section of the eastern town could slip into the sea.

Church Cliff flats resident Derek Hallet, who lost 70 feet of his garden to the sea in 2003, has welcomed the news that the planning application had been approved.

He told the View from Lyme Regis: "A lot of people have put in a lot of hard work to get to this stage and we can only hope that the funding will be forthcoming. But if there is a change of government, who knows?"

"The original starting date was 2010 and now it has slipped back to 2012 or maybe 2014. But the road into Lyme and 172 houses will now be protected and that is a great relief."

Couple's 'magical' beach wedding

AN Ipswich couple enjoyed perfect weather for their beach theme wedding in Lyme Regis.

Angie and Andrew Morrison, who have family in the area, married in the Guildhall followed by a blessing on the packed out beach last Saturday.

The bride arrived on the Marine Parade with her father in a bright yellow camper van and was greeted by applause from beach-goers.

Guests sat in deckchairs and were served Pimm's from By The Bay staff. The party later enjoyed a traditional fish and chip supper followed by ice cream cones in the restaurant, which was decorated with bunting and seashells.

Sticking to the summer holiday theme, guests played beach games and mini golf, and the bride and groom even treated guests to a bag of pennies each to

AS wife of the town crier and with a job in the Tourist Information Centre, Dawn Street is definitely a well-known face around Lyme Regis.
Dawn says she's "proud to be born and bred in Lyme Regis", having attended St Michael's Primary and the Woodroffe School before going to catering college in Weymouth.
She met husband Phil when playing Cinderella in the local pantomime in 1985, when he was working the spotlights. They have now been married almost 25 years and have two children, 16-year-old Luke and Amy, 14.

■ WHAT do you like the most about living in Lyme Regis

Lyme Regis is just wonderful especially the views when driving in from Sidmouth Road and Charmouth Road. The community spirit is second to none and I love walking through the streets knowing that I'm walking the footsteps of my ancestors. It's also great to have family and friends on your door step.

■ WHAT would you change about the town if you could?

It would be great to have the coast path re-introduced and be safe from landslips. I would like to see The Three Cups Hotel and the Boys' Club back in operation and a public convenience at the top of the town.

■ WHAT do you enjoy about working in the Tourist Information Centre?

I love meeting a variety of customers, both local and visitors. It gives me great satisfaction knowing that I've helped with their enquiries and they leave happy. Not forgetting to mention working with a great team of people.

■ WHAT would you recommend as the top local attraction?

We are lucky to have such a good choice of quality attractions in and around the town it would be difficult to choose one in particular.

■ WHAT do you enjoy about being the town crier's wife?

Being associated with a long-standing tradition, together with meeting other town criers and visiting their respective towns.

■ WHAT is your favourite local event to take part in?

I can't single out a particular event, as all events are unique and have great atmosphere and I enjoy them all.

■ WHAT are your personal interests and hobbies?

I love music, films, TV and theatre. I'm involved with the local pantomime society and with my love of films, it's great to work at the Regent Cinema also.

60 SECOND INTERVIEW

■ IF you could play any character or star in any show, who or what would it be?

This is a hard one to answer as I love so many musicals, but the first one that comes to mind is "Chicago" and either characters Roxie and Velma because of the energy, dance and music. However, I'm not sure if I could get away with the skimpy clothes!

■ WHAT three items would you like with you if you were stranded on a desert island?

An iPod with my favourite music, a solar powered TV and a comfortable bed.

■ WHICH three people would you invite to a dinner party?

Gino D'Acampo to cook a fantastic meal and listen to his lovely accent, Donny Osmond as I have met him briefly, but I would like to get to know him better and sing a duet. Although recently deceased, Michael Jackson, as he could show me some good dance moves.

■ WHAT would you do if you won the lottery?

Apart from the obvious like house, holiday and family security I would like to help local good causes who are in need of finance.

■ WHAT is your ideal holiday destination?

Lyme Regis of course! St Lucia would be one choice as it's where I was married and Bermuda would be another choice, as I have made many friends through the twinning association and there are fantastic beaches and relaxed atmosphere.

Flower shop returns to Broad Street

LYME Regis florist House of Flowers will soon be returning to Broad Street after a three-year break from the town centre.

Owner Teresa Fowler is hoping to open her new shop by summer in the former Mad Hatters Restaurant, at the top of Broad Street, following its refurbishment.

by Francesca Evans

Teresa first started trading in Drakes Way before moving to premises in Broad Street – now Alice's Bear Shop – where she stayed for 11 years.

She then closed shop and started working from her home in Woodmead Road.

After moving back to Broad Street, Teresa hopes to keep her Woodmead Road "flower shed" open, as well as providing a range of flowers to Lyme Stores newsagents.

Working from a shop, rather than from home, will allow Teresa to employ additional staff to help her as she says business is "non-stop".

She added: "House of Flowers has been going very well in Woodmead Road, so I am a little nervous about returning to Broad Street, but working from home makes it very difficult to employ staff and I'm busy all the time."

"I'm often on outside jobs so it would be nice to have someone to answer the phones when I'm gone and help with the general running of things."

spend in the amusement arcade before the evening party.

Angie said: "It was amazing. Lyme Regis is a wonderful place and we couldn't think of anywhere better to celebrate our wedding with family and friends."

"It was magical and truly a day to remember. Lots of people travel thousands of miles for a beach wedding, but Lyme Regis was just perfect! The team at By The Bay were really helpful and enthusiastic about our plans. Their attention to detail meant that the day went really smoothly and even the weather behaved itself."

Owners of By The Bay, Tony and Stephanie Colston, added: "We're delighted that Andy and Angie and their guests had such a great day. We all had our fingers crossed for the weather, but there was a comprehensive backup plan that we could have wheeled out if necessary."

LYME Regis Lifeboat crew were called out on a shout after being presented with a £2,000 cheque for the RNLI.

Members of the crew were visiting the Royal Oak in Charmouth on Sunday afternoon to collect the cheque and thank landlords Brian and Karen Prevet, who organised the Charmouth Christmas Day Swim, where the money was raised.

They presented Karen with a bouquet of flowers and Brian with a certificate of thanks before their pagers alerted them of a speedboat calling for help off Golden Cap.

A flare was fired when the 15 feet speedboat, "Forever 19", with two men aboard, developed engine trouble.

The lifeboat men returned to the station immediately and towed the boat back to Lyme Regis harbour.

Defending the east end of Lyme

This is the fourth of five phases aimed to protect Lyme Regis from the serious effects of coastal erosion, and will include a new 390 metre sea wall, slope stabilisation and landscaping, habitat restoration and management.

The work will protect 172 homes from landslips, as well as St Michael's Parish Church, the Charmouth Road car park and the football and golf clubs.

Phase one of the development was completed in 1994 and provided new sea defences at the eastern end of the sea front, as well as a new sewage system. Phases two and three were completed in 2007, including slope stabilisation and sea defences on Marine Parade, in Langmoor and Lister Gardens and on Cobb Road.

Funding applications for phase four will now be submitted to the Environment Agency.

It is hoped construction will start in spring 2012 and will be completed within two years.

Dorset Fire Service is going for gold

DORSET firefighters are to get a £600,000 makeover as they become the first in the South West to adopt gold uniforms.

The new Dorset Fire and Rescue Service uniforms are set to replace the traditional dark blue and will be in place by the end of the year.

Dorset will be the first county in the South West to adopt the gold uniforms but are expected to be closely followed by Devon.

Chairman of Dorset Fire Authority, Chris Bulteel, said: "After an exhaustive selection process, which included trials by our own firefighters, we have chosen Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) manufactured by Bristol Uniforms who are our existing supplier.

"The Gold PPE came first in national trials recently so we are assured that it offers the best in terms of safety protection for our operational crews, while offering the best value for money."

The clothing has an outer layer of what is known as 'PBI Gold' which provides excellent protection from heat and fire, combined with an innovative lining which adds further protection from heat and water while being lightweight. Chief Fire Officer, Darran Gunter, added: "The PPE provides excellent protection without imposing high levels of physiological stress on our fire fighters. Therefore it ensures they can operate safely and effectively at emergency incidents.

"We are absolutely committed to safer communities and, of course, safer firefighters."

DFRS has chosen to procure the new PPE through the Integrated Clothing Project contract (ICP), which was led by FireBuy - a national public buying organisation created to provide a range of procurement services to the Fire Service.

The new clothing contract will cost £600k as part of the Service's Capital Programme, and will be in place by the end of 2010.

■ GOING FOR GOLD: DFRS will adopt the new gold uniforms by the end of the year

Council to consider 10 low cost homes on car park

COUNCILLORS in Lyme Regis have voted in favour of investigating the viability of building ten affordable homes on the site of the Woodmead Halls.

But they are sticking to their original insistence when the suggestion was first put forward that there should be no loss of car parking spaces.

The town council has dis-

By Philip Evans

cussed the possibility of a low-cost housing scheme on the extremities of the Woodmead Halls site with housing developers and have also given thought to the possibility of tiered parking.

However, the housing associations do not think it is possible to build the houses without losing car parking spaces.

At the March meeting of the Policy Committee town clerk Mike Lewis showed councillors some sketch plans of where the houses could be sited.

This prompted Councillor Daryl Turner to enquire: "Is this council's priority affordable housing or financial gain?"

Councillor Ken Meech said that was an impossible question to answer.

The reason they wanted to protect the car parking spaces was because of the tremendous amount of money the car park brought in which was of great value to the council taxpayer.

He felt they should be pushing harder for housing on the outskirts of the town.

Councillor Turner, who sits on the district council, pointed out that WDDC had allocated more land at St Alban's for housing and emphasised that Lyme Regis Town Council had been a consultee in the allocation of housing in the new Local Plan. But he did not know what their response was.

Committee chairman Sally Holman said they had been told by the housing developers that the original idea was not viable so they were looking at alternatives.

Councillor Stan Williams reminded the meeting that Councillor Owen Lovell's original idea envisaged building the new homes on the surrounds to the car park with an archway entrance to the park.

He thought they should go back to that idea and also consider tiering at the bottom end of the car park.

Councillor Turner maintained they should be looking at the size of development envisaged and then calculate what the loss would be in parking revenue.

Councillor Lorna Jenkins thought they should give consideration to all ideas with no or only a small loss of car parking spaces.

Town clerk Mike Lewis said it was important that the housing associations were given parameters to work within.

Councillor Turner thought the new development of ten flats at Queen's Walk would provide the idea model for the Woodmead Halls.

Councillor Ken Hitchcock reminded members they had made a decision that there should be no loss of parking. They were now changing their minds again.

A proposition that they should look at the viability of a block of ten houses with no loss of parking was carried by seven votes to two.

Councillor Turner, who opposed the motion, asked for a recorded vote, prompting Councillor Meech to comment: "I feel an election coming on."

New kebab shop plan submitted

AN application to turn Cauli & Flowers greengrocers in Lyme Regis into a kebab takeaway will be considered by Lyme Regis Town Council tonight (Wednesday).

A similar application, including a request to keep the Broad Street premises open until 11pm every night, was withdrawn earlier in the year after receiving over 50 letters of objections.

The town council also recommended refusal of the plans, on the grounds that a takeaway would be intrusive to the residential nature of Broad Street and would be detrimental to the area.

The application has been submitted by Turguy Sen, who already owns kebab takeaways in Crewkerne, Seaton and Axminster. If successful, Lyme's only greengrocers will be closed down.

Late night damage in Pound Street area

POLICE are investigating reports of damage to houses and a car in Pound Street and Hill Rise Road in Lyme Regis.

At about 1am on Saturday, three or four young men – one in a plain white t-shirt and jeans – were walking from the Cobb direction. They damaged three house signs in Pound Street, kicked open a garden gate causing damage to the lock and kicked off a car's wing mirror in Hill Rise Road.

PC Richard Winward said: "This was totally unacceptable criminal behaviour and I would appeal to anyone who has any idea of who these offenders might be to contact me."

Anyone with information should contact PC Winward on 07500 816 312 or 01305 222222.

New street light

TOWN councillors in Lyme Regis have agreed to spend £1,865 on a new street light to illuminate the Town Mill bridge and footpath following the vandalism of bollard-style lighting.

Harbour users call for more say in decisions

LYME Regis Harbour Consultation Group are keen to get local people more involved in their decision making.

The consultation group is a forum that brings together West Dorset District Council, Lyme Regis Town Council and relevant organisations to discuss effective management and future planning of services offered within the Cobb area of Lyme Regis.

However, members of the group are becoming increasingly concerned that local people are not getting their say in decisions, and are being overruled by the district council.

Harbour consultation group chairman, Councillor Sally Holman, said: "Unfortunately, the way in which the Lyme Regis Harbour Consultation Group is currently being managed is creating an adversarial relationship between West Dorset District Council and many of the local organisations.

"It's clearly important to return to a forum where local people can be involved in a constructive dialog rather than, as is currently the case, a meeting where they are being invited to be told of the decisions that have been made by the district council."

To resolve the issue, Councillor Holman and the group's vice-chairman Ken Dibben are planning to meet with district council officials, including chief executive David Clarke, director of planning David Evans and WDDC leader Robert Gould, today (Wednesday) to plan the group's future management, with hopes of including more locally-made decisions.

Charmouth Fire Station needs you!

WE ARE very lucky here in Charmouth for all sorts of reasons, but not more so than the fact we are one of very few villages in Dorset to have our own dedicated Fire Station with personnel on permanent standby every day of the year, day and night.

If you have ever had to call the Fire Service, you will know the feeling of relief and reassurance that your local crew will respond quickly and efficiently to your call. Even if you haven't needed us, you can rest assured your local crews are ready and willing to help should you ever need them, but have you ever spared a thought for the type of men and women that make up the fire fighting crews at your local station?

Dorset Fire & Rescue Service is made up of 26 full-time and retained duty systems stations. Firefighters working on the Retained Duty System

(RDS) are part-time firefighters. They are paid members of the community who respond to emergencies just like full-time firefighters.

However, instead of being based at the fire station they carry pagers, going about their daily business, waiting to be called out. Some are self-employed, while many are in full-time employment with agreement from their employers to leave to attend an emergency call when they occur. Others are on call at specified hours after work and at weekends.

Despite being a small station, with the smallest crew in Dorset, from the time the pagers go off to the time the fire engine leaves the station, Charmouth manages to be mobile to emergency incidents between four and five minutes, day and night. Sometimes even less - that's good to know if you ever need our help!

Fire fighting is only one vital part of the service we provide. We also deal with road traffic collisions, water rescues and flooding, chemical accidents, animal rescues and many other special service calls involved with the community.

We are also involved in giving advice and support to members of the public which include community fire safety initiatives, training and development and station routines.

Charmouth Fire crews are equipped with a fire appliance, a secondary appliance which is also an off-road vehicle, equipment and protective fire kit and we are called upon to attend the same range of incidents as our full-time counterparts. In return we are paid a retaining fee along with additional payments for every incident and training session attended.

We currently only have nine crew members to service the village station and we should have 12, so we need your help. Charmouth Fire Station needs your help.

Could you be a part-time firefighter? Would you relish the challenging role? And do you work or live locally? Maybe you know someone who would be interested in this incredibly rewarding job, or maybe the challenge?

For more information, come down and see us. We usually drill on a Monday night between 7pm and 9.30pm and our doors are always open even if you just fancy seeing what we

Smoke alarms save lives

FIREFIGHTERS at Charmouth fire station have some important news they would like to share. Being in a closely knit village, this is an ideal opportunity to let the residents of Charmouth know what their local fire-fighters have been up to recently.

Since the beginning of March, crews have attended a number of incidents including three property fires, three chimney fires and one animal rescue.

Charmouth were called to two of these property fires as a result of working smoke alarms that had either alerted a passer-by or the home owner. Smoke alarms can be purchased for around £5 - a small price to pay to save you, your loved ones and your property.

Bernie Fallon, Firefighter at Charmouth said: "During one of these incidents, a woman in her 30s was rescued by crews who found her in the house amongst the smoke. A big thank you to the passer-by for calling 999, thanks to this quick thinking she was safe and well."

He added: "In another of these incidents, it is believed the electric starter for the gas fire malfunctioned and caught fire, setting the rear of the gas fire alight and filling the room and eventually the house with thick black smoke."

"Crews fought the fire using breathing apparatus and a powder extinguisher and then ventilated the property. In this instance the occupant had locked all the windows in the house but was able to locate the keys very quickly for the crew."

"This is extremely helpful as often we find that people are unsure where they have put things like window keys, especially when they are panicking."

For more information on these incidents, or to find out about becoming a retained firefighter at Charmouth, please contact Station Commander John Stamp on 01297 560275 (Answerphone only).

Rowing for war heroes

MEMBERS of Lyme Regis Gig Club will be rowing from the Cobb to West Bay and back to raise funds for Help For Heroes. Twenty-five members will be rowing two of the club's gigs, "Rebel" and "Revenge" in the event this Sunday (April 18th). Those rowing from Lyme to West Bay will also be taking part in a larger fundraising event for Help For Heroes, organised by Dartmoor Prison Officer, Roger Davies.

By Francesca Evans

Teams will be travelling from Dartmoor to Portland by as many modes of transport as possible between Friday and Sunday, and the Lyme rowers will be assisting the "Vendeurs D'Ognion" team, made up of the Governor of Portland Youth Offenders Unit, Steve Holland, and three of his colleagues, on their leg between Lyme and West Bay.

Weather permitting, "Revenge" and "Rebel" will leave the Cobb at 8.30am on Sunday with the "Vendeurs D'Ognions" team to row the seven-mile journey.

New crews will then race the two gigs back to Lyme for a lunchtime finale.

Donations can be made to Help For Heroes by visiting gig club members at the Cobb on Sunday or by donating online at www.helpforheroes.org.uk/donations.html

■ READY FOR THE CHALLENGE: Members of Lyme Regis Gig Club will be rowing to West Bay and back in aid of Help For Heroes.

Baby dolphin washed up on Lyme beach

COASTGUARDS were called out to investigate a dead baby dolphin that was found on the main beach of Lyme Regis.

The porpoise dolphin was safely removed and the incident, which took place on Tuesday, April 6th, was reported to the Natural History Museum, who will research the animal's cause of death.

Porpoises, dolphins, whales and sturgeons are also known as "Royal Fish" and when beached the Queen can claim ownership of them.

Sunday beach clean

VOLUNTEERS are needed to help clean the beach in Lyme Regis, as part of a county-wide event.

The 22nd annual Great Dorset Beach Clean is taking place on Sunday, April 18th, with 27 beaches from Christchurch to Lyme Regis taking part.

Those who would like to volunteer for the Lyme event should meet on the Slipway at the Cobb at 11am.

Volunteers are recommended to wear gloves and sensible shoes, but rubbish bags are provided.

More help needed to keep annual jazz festival going

by Francesca Evans

THE 20th annual Lyme Regis Jazz Festival will be held during the first weekend of July, including performances from festival favourites and local musicians, as well as the traditional umbrella parade.

"Jurassic Jazz" will be opened by the Mayor of Lyme Regis, Councillor Michaela Ellis, and town crier Phil Street on Friday, July 2nd. The parade will be held on Saturday, July 3rd, with prizes for the best children's and adult's umbrella, and free ice cream for all children taking part.

Other attractions will include performances from the Woodroffe School Jazz Band, Coly River Jazz Band, the Louisiana Joymakers, Gerry Brown and the Mission Hall Band, Tiger Tim's Hot Four and many more.

Profits from the Jazz Festival go towards organising the following year's event, with any surplus being given to local organisations. Those who have benefited in the past are Lyme Regis Majorettes, the Town Band and the junior section of Lyme Regis Football Club.

However, financing the event has become more difficult in recent years, due to a lack of outside funding and a decline in ticket sales. The small organising committee have decided to go ahead with the 20th anniversary festival, but serious consideration will be given about whether to continue in 2011.

Unless new volunteers come forward to take over the organisation of the festival, the 2010 event could be the last put together by the current team.

Anyone interested in volunteering should contact John Fry on 01297 443927.

Tickets for the 2010 festival are already on sale at the Tourist Information Centre in Church Street. A three-day stroller ticket giving access to all performances costs £50. Tickets for single days are also available, costing between £12 and £30, or single event tickets are available for £7 to £9.

Atlantic rowers clock up 193 miles in 12-hour rowathon

BAD weather didn't dampen the spirits of "The Corinthians", who took part in a 12-hour rowathon in Lyme Regis on Easter Saturday.

"The Corinthians" – made up of Lyme Regis Gig Club members Chris Walters, Brian Fletcher, Tony Short and Elliot Dale – are training and raising money to take part in the 2011 Corinthian Atlantic Challenge.

The race covers 2,500 nautical miles from La Gomera in the Canary Islands to Antigua in the Caribbean, and the money raised will be split between the team's chosen charities – ShelterBox and the British Heart Foundation.

The team aimed to cover 150 miles during their 12-hour stint on rowing machines, held on the Slipway, but managed 193.4 miles – the equivalent of over seven marathons.

The event raised just over £1,000 for their chosen charities.

"The Corinthians" said: "A warm thank you to all who supported us on such a poor day."

The team also displayed an Atlantic class boat borrowed from Woodvale Challenges Ltd. during the event, which many visitors enjoyed seeing. They also held a "Guess the number of kilometres rowed" competition, won by Mrs J. Solano, of Shaves Cross.

■ A COFFEE morning held in Charmouth raised £150 for the Women's branch of the Royal British Legion.

The event was held in the village hall on Easter Saturday and included a raffle and bric-a-brac sale, as well as the usual refreshments.

Pictured are members of the Charmouth Women's branch of the Royal British Legion, secretary Trisha Forsey, President Cynthia Buckingham, treasurer Major Mack and chairman Pat Stapleton.

■ LOCAL fundraisers Lucy Coombe and Jess Chapple presented cheques totalling almost £5,000 to their two chosen charities.

The money was raised at a successful winter ball held at Uplyme Village Hall earlier this year.

The girls travelled to Exeter to present £3,000 to the FORCE cancer charity and £1,764.32 to Hospiscare.

■ LYME Regis Junior Band recently visited the Tenpin Bowling Centre in Exeter as a belated Christmas celebration. Members enjoyed return coach travel, two games of bowling and a bite to eat, as a thank you for all their hard work throughout the year.

Duck race raises £800 for school PTA

THE Easter weekend in Lyme Regis was finished off with a duck race in aid of the Woodroffe School PTA.

Members of Lyme Regis Lifeboat Crew started the race halfway along Windsor Terrace, and ushered the ducks to the finishing line outside Jordan Flats in Mill Green.

The race is normally finished further along the River Lim outside the Angel Inn, but organisers decided the town was so busy they didn't want to cause congestion in the area.

The event raised £800 for PTA school funds.

Expansion plans at Shire House

SHIRE House Care Home in Lyme Regis has plans to expand with 14 new retirement apartments.

Plans to demolish Chatterton House, situated next to Shire House in Sidmouth Road, and replace it with two-storeys of apartments have been submitted to West Dorset District Council by Sentry Care Development Ltd.

In 2007, Shire House was granted permission to build an extension connecting to Chatterton House, providing 20 en-suite residential bedrooms, a communal lounge, kitchen and dining room, but the work was never carried out.

It is hoped the new development will meet the demand for more retirement apartments in Lyme Regis, rather than care home beds.

The plans include 14 two-bedroom apartments with balconies at the first floor level, and a communal lounge, kitchenette, en-suite guest room, office, and hairdresser and physiotherapy room on the ground floor.

Full details of the application can be found on the planning section of the district council's website, www.dorset-foryou.com, and comments are welcome by May 7th.

The plans will be considered by Lyme Regis Town Council's planning committee tonight (Wednesday) before a final decision is made by the district council.

■ LYME PLANNING DECISIONS

WEST Dorset District Council have approved the following planning applications for Lyme Regis:

Convert garage into living area, create new parking area adjacent to house, render stone face of house and replace PVC windows with wooden-framed double-glazing at Coram Cottage on Pound Road.

Create a ramp with handrails and retaining wall, and make alterations to external door at the Emergency Services Centre on Hill Road.

Build a single storey extension at Hawksdown, Clappentail Lane.

Carry out internal alterations to form two shops at 8 Broad Street, known as "The Toby Jug".

Build extension, garage and a bridge over a stream at 10 Springfield Gardens.

Create a glass verandah roof at 9 Silver Street.

Erect a chalet for holiday accommodation at Haye Farm on Haye Lane.

Renovate roof completely, including new dormer windows, roof light and overhangs at Flat 5, Burton House, Pound Street.

Build first floor extension at 3 Fairfield Park.

The district council refused an application to build a conservatory at 45 Henry's Way as it was deemed too large, and a loft conversion at 8 Talbot Road.

New manager at the Town Mill

NEW manager at the Town Mill in Lyme Regis, Sarah Clark, is hoping to put the historic building firmly on the map for visitors and locals alike.

Born and raised in the West Country, Sarah moved away in her early 20s but returned to Uplyme, where she has been living for the past nine years. During March, she has been fitting in two half days at the mill per week, but now she's ready to take on the job full-time, replacing former manager Amada Edwards, who has resumed her work with young people at Axe Valley Community College.

Sarah is keen to make the working watermill a focal point for the local community.

She said: "It's certainly a hectic time at the mill this spring with the Lyme Bay Brewery starting up, the first food and flea market on May 2nd, and the official opening of the Malthouse on June 5th.

"It's a great time to be joining the Town Mill and when people routinely make the short detour to visit the mill, galleries and local businesses, then I will know we are on the right track."

The mill's recently refurbished Malthouse has already received interest from many people hoping to hold events there, from exhibitions and meetings to weddings.

Anyone interested in booking the facility should contact Sarah or Mags Osborne on 01297 443579.

The mill's first food and flea market, organised by Eleanor Bursey of the Mill Tea and Dining Room, will be held on Sunday, May 2nd and will include food from local producers, antiques and bric-a-brac.

Anyone interested in volunteering at the Town Mill should contact Sarah or visit, www.townmill.org.uk for more information.

Apartments plan for Holmcroft

by Francesca Evans

PLANS to turn the former Holmcroft Residential Care Home in Lyme Regis into 13 apartments have been submitted to West Dorset District Council.

The former care home, situated behind Broad Street, was closed for refurbishment in 2007 but never reopened. Later that year, planning permission was granted to turn the building into nine apartments, but the work never took place.

In 2009, it was also reported that developers had plans to turn the building into a 20-bedroom hotel. However, no formal planning application was made.

The new application, submitted by Mark Holmes of Grovewind Ltd, requests permission to demolish the care home and replace it with a "high quality" three-storey building for private sale, improving on the 2007 designs.

The building will include three one-bedroom apartments, seven two-bedroom apartments and one three-bedroom apartment.

The plans also include a separate two-storey residential annexe for "family orientated" units, made up of two three-bedroom maisonettes.

The development will be accessed by the current driveway off Broad Street, next to the HSBC bank.

Full details of the plans are available on the planning section of the district council's website, www.dorset-foryou.com and comments are welcome by May 7th.

Lyme Regis Town Council will consider the application tonight (Wednesday) before a final decision is made by WDDC.

As Holmcroft is in a conservation area, special conservation area consent is also required to demolish the building.

Night for the girls popular at Davey Fort

LADIES proved Lyme Regis Football Club is "not just for the boys" at a successful fashion party held in the clubhouse.

The event was organised by the club's fundraising committee and raised about £500 towards new changing room facilities to be built during the summer.

About 60 women browsed shoes, bags, jewellery and other accessories displayed by Sugar Plum Fairy – an online and mobile boutique.

The ladies also enjoyed cocktails, cupcakes and nibbles, as well as a raffle.

The next ladies event to be held at the club will be a swishing party on Friday, May 14th when the girls are invited to bring up to three items of clothing and two accessories to swap with others.

Following the success of the fashion party, the fundraising committee are now hoping to hold a ladies night every two to three months.

Relaunch of new safety boat

LYME Regis Sea School's primary safety boat was re-launched on Good Friday following a major re-build sponsored by Sport England.

A grant of almost £10,000 enabled the school to carry out an extensive refurbishment of the boat, "Rescue 1", including replacement tubes, steering, controls and engine.

The safety vessel was originally built by Humber Boats in 1975 for the old Lyme Regis Adventure Centre, which was housed by the Boatbuilding Academy. It has clocked up thousands of hours of fleet cover and the work was desperately needed, as without a safety boat, the sea school would not have been able to hold any activities in 2010.

A launching ceremony was held on the Slipway on Good Friday, attended by Sport England executive director Judith Dean, as well as sea school principal Chris Joyner, secretary of Lyme Regis Sailing Club, Councillor Sally Holman, Councillor Stan Williams, former mayor Ken Dibben and sea school instructors and committee members.

■ READY FOR RE-LAUNCH: Lyme Regis Sea School principal Chris Joyner at the re-launch of the school's refurbished safety boat, funded by Sport England

Mr Joyner said: "We are incredibly grateful to Sport England for their support and funding. 'Rescue 1' is virtually a new boat now. We did discuss the idea of buying a new one but this was the ideal boat for what we wanted and hopefully now it will be able to last another 35 years."

Councillor Holman then poured champagne on the boat, as a sign of good luck, before it was launched into the harbour and taken for a spin around the bay.

Town Band's patriotic concert on George's Day

LYME Regis Town Band will be hosting a patriotic St George's Day concert later this month.

The concert will be compered by Lyme Regis Lifeboat press officer, Richard Horobin, who also handles publicity for the Save the Three Cups Action Group.

Richard has previously worked for local and regional newspapers before becoming editor of BBC South and retiring to Lyme Regis three years ago.

He said: "As for acting as comper for the superb Lyme Regis Town Band, I suppose there's a first time for everything."

"I have my niece, Val Mahoney, to thank for this honour. She has been a leading light with the band for many years and only recently stood down as chairman."

"The St George's Day concert promises to be a rousing, patriotic affair and I know the band has been working very hard to make the evening a huge success."

The band's press officer, Roger Grose, added: "It should be a great evening's entertainment with a strong flavour of the flag-waving Last Night of the Proms."

The concert will be held on Saturday, April 24th in the Woodmead Halls. Tickets are available from Up-lyme Post Office, Lyme Regis Tourist Information Centre, Primary Colours in Broad Street or by calling 01297 442719.

Typical 'not on my doorstep'

■ A CLASSICAL view of "not on my doorstep" has been put forward by Mr "neat and tidy" Lyons, who chooses to use the Charmouth Road allotments as a vision of his nightmare (View from Lyme Regis, Wednesday, April 7th).

This is a mis-judged and naïve attempt to discredit allotments, which are, as you know, an amalgamation of individual plots that are worked in latent and creative ways.

Each plot has its own individual character.

Oh dear! It's even possible to recycle old fridges and household items for growing, compost making or storage. Corrugated iron sheeting, old sheds, structures bashed together with hammer and nails all add to the atmosphere and are part of the history of the allotment and the characters who worked the land. (I wonder what Jack Bevis would say?)

Of course, in this modern day and age, I'm sorry that those allotments are not up to Mr Lyons' standard – thank goodness.

One must look deeper and see that these separate plots also make up a productive gardening community, which is diverse in its approaches, and also has strong social affiliations.

We are very proud and contented with our allotments, which in season will show the results of very hard work and dedication.

Roger Polley,
Allotment Holder

Allotments are not showcase gardens

■ HOW sad to read your article, such one-sided journalism and underhanded political spite.

Does Mike Lyons really think he can get away with such misrepresentation of the Charmouth Road allotments in order to score points and save Strawberry Fields from the same 'fate'? Who gave him the right to enter the allotments and take photos which could be so easily misconstrued?

Just to put the record straight, the 'household goods' cannot be seen from the road as they are hidden by the allotment owner's shed; there would be cause to complain if this was someone's front garden.

Allotments are not showcase gardens and therefore, the emphasis is on what is grown, not what it looks like.

I suppose Mr Lyons is not aware that the very allotments he criticises were the subject of an article written by Edward Griffiths of the Dorset County Magazine who considered these allotments to be "lovely" - he also took pictures and explained why there was so much corrugated iron sheets between the plots "the plethora of barriers around the site, stand testament to the tenacity of the marauding rabbits"

I would suggest that Mr Lyons finds another scapegoat to argue his case.

Youth Club action group

■ LYME Regis Club for Young People have been meeting since August last year. We now, in light of the recent meeting with Oliver Letwin MP at St Michael's, intend to formalise our group away from the original petition to an action group and to that end have agreed to have the title Youth Club Action Group.

We continue to support all efforts to re-open the Club for Young People on the Church Street site. We would like to give the original petitioners some recognition for the effect they had on re-opening discussions concerning the club, and our gratitude for their support in the petition.

We intend to pursue this matter until we can see a re-opened club with young people clearly involved in the running of their club.

SCHÜCO

The allure of the allotment

DON'T tell the wife, but I rather like the idea of having an allotment. There is something incredibly 1950s about them.

I have this rather rose-tinted view of toiling on hot summer days and then sitting back in a garden hut, sipping rough cider and listening to Test Match Special.

I suspect the reality of looking after an allotment is rather different.

But with the rising cost of food, the interest in allotments has rocketed in recent times, hence the decision by Lyme Regis Town Council to create 26 new plots at the Strawberry Field to run separately from the association-run allotments at the back of the football pitch in Charmouth Road.

All parish councils have a duty to provide land for allotments and the town council has clearly responded to the demand.

I am not exactly known in my family for having green fingers.

When my parents lived in my house the back garden, all 60 feet of it, was tilled with vegetables and fruit. For a while we even kept chickens, although I'm not too sure how many we slaughtered because they became members of the family.

All gardens in Anning Road were similar and there was much light-hearted banter on

Lyme Matters

by Philip Evans

a Sunday morning across the garden fences as our fathers provided fresh produce to supplement our diet. Put it this way, we never went without our five a day long before we knew we had to have five a day.

Today those gardens are either grassed over or occupied by garages or car ports.

We discarded the vegetable plots many years ago and my job is to mow the lawns, front and back, a duty I carry out with great grace.

I pretend that I want to grow more vegetables and we do produce a few tomatoes and cucumbers in the greenhouse. We even grew a few peppers last summer.

But back to the allotments. The creation of 26 plots on the Strawberry Field has not gone down too well with nearby property owners, including freehold owner Cliff Powley who sold the leasehold of the land to the town council for new football pitches.

Mr Powley questioned the legality of the land being used for allotments but I understand the town council has had legal confirmation that they are perfectly in their rights to do so and are proceeding with the scheme post haste.

Other concerns have been expressed over the danger of the Strawberry Field becoming an eyesore if allotments are allowed on the land, promoting some strong comments from existing Charmouth Road allotment holders in this week's letter page.

The point is made that allotments have never been showcase gardens, and never will be, but there has been much comment about the dumping of household items on the allotments, photographs of which were shown to the councillors.

Part of the Strawberry Field will also be used for its original intention - sport and recreation - with the opening of a pitch and putt course which is being run by the nearby golf club.

Those of us who were involved with the ill-fated plans to build a new home for Lyme Regis Football Club will look upon the current position with some sadness but are heartened by the fact that the town council may not have given up altogether on future sporting use.

Leases for the allotment and the pitch and putt course on the Strawberry Field will be reviewed in 2014 when, depending on the climate of that time, it may well be possible to give further consideration for the land being used for its original purpose.

EVENT OF THE WEEK

Double celebration for the Mayor's family

■ BY FAR the most enjoyable social event of the week was a double celebration at the Woodmead Halls on Saturday evening.

There the Mayor, Councillor Michaela Ellis, and her consort husband Alan were celebrating their silver wedding (25 years) with Alan's parents, Derek and Rita Ellis, marking their golden anniversary (50 years).

I can't remember when I have seen more local faces at a Lyme function and a good time was had by all with local DJ, the incomparable Simon Flux, providing the music.

We'd all forgotten that 25 years ago

Alan sported a rather splendid moustache and Michaela had much curlier hair, as demonstrated in their wedding photos. But she's still just as slim.

I took a bit of stick during the night because I gave the first public airing to the nannygoat beard I am attempting to grow. Don't ask.

I suggested to one quite vociferous non-admirer that I thought it looked a bit Johnny Depp-like. He replied: "More like Johnny Solway."

You will have lived in Lyme for quite a while to understand that subtlety of that!

A site for sore eyes...

■ THIS is the view that strollers along the prom, arriving at the western end of the Marine Parade, are confronted with. Quaint, isn't it?

The vast cavern of stark concrete is where two houses had to be demolished because of the severe subsidence problems experienced before the coastal protection works were started.

Families were removed from the houses overnight.

No one will deny what a wonderful job West Dorset District Council has done in stabilising the creeping cliffs of Lyme, remodelling our beach and renovating our gardens.

But the scheme has been finished for two years and still there is no sign that anything is happening to improve this unacceptable eyesore.

I understand from the town council that there are no immediate plans, if any at all, for this prominent site.

I am sure that the neighbouring properties are highly relieved that the land movement has been addressed, without further threat to their own homes, but the traders at this end of the parade cannot be happy to have this area, secured with compound-type fencing, on their doorstep.

If the district council are totally devoid of ideas, perhaps View from Lyme Regis readers could come up with a few for them.

Answers on a postcard please, sent to the usual address, and I will give a bottle of champagne to the best one which we will then forward to High West Street in Dorchester.

I would have thought that the very least the district council could do is to erect some more attractive fencing for the season whilst a permanent project can be planned.

Parking metres in Broad Street?

I HAVE been a strong critic over the years of Dorset County Council's method of policing street parking in Lyme Regis.

I've always thought it was total bonkers to send wardens up from Wimborne to blitz the town with parking tickets and then not be seen again for weeks.

It means you can contravene the parking restrictions one day and get a £30 fine and then get away with it for weeks on end.

I've paid my fair share in parking fines in Broad Street, especially when our offices were in the town centre. I admit to running the gauntlet of the parking wardens rather than paying the exorbitant fees charged at the NCP.

Many people who live on the outskirts of Lyme ignore the town in the summer season and do their shopping in Axminster and Bridport where parking fees are more sensible. It costs the town dearly but who can blame them?

But at least we do have a few parking spaces in Broad Street which enable us to pop into town for some quick shopping, especially during the quieter months.

But all that could change. I understand that Dorset County Council is still very much in favour of installing pay and display machines in Broad Street all the year round. This would eliminate free on-street parking completely.

How do I know this? One of my reporters, Paul Crompton, was this week following a story about parking fines in Dorchester and in a statement from county hall it stated that they intended to extend the pay and display machines to other Dorset towns, including Bridport and Lyme Regis, over the next couple of years.

Of course, this is not new information. The county have suggested this in the past but Lyme Regis Town Council have made it clear they are totally opposed to the idea.

Traders will also be dead against pay and display because it will drive more shoppers away from the town.

In a town with such a large proportion of elderly residents, it is important to retain a certain amount of free parking in Broad Street.

The town council will undoubtedly fight the county council if they are serious about the proposal.

Remember, you read it here first.

Lyme Alpacas

Lyme Alpacas, situated on the cliff tops near Lyme Regis is home to over 100 alpacas. With 40 babies (cria) due from now through till the end of August, this is a very busy place. Producing the most luxurious fleece alpaca is known as the 'fibre of the gods' and here at Lyme Alpacas we turn that fibre into scarves, jumpers, pashminas and knitting yarns, all in natural undyed colours.

People often ask, "Who buys alpacas?" Anyone who has a piece of land (stocking density is around 5 alpacas per acre) and wants to grace that land with beautiful creatures that will conveniently keep the grass down.

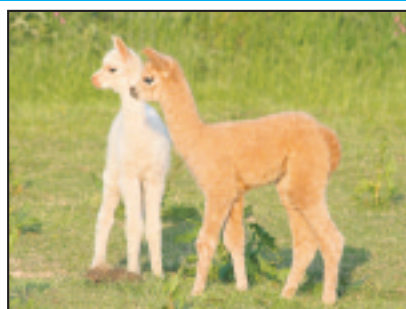

Alpacas are easy to keep, don't need to be brought in at night, make a sweet, humming sound and will each produce fleece for several alpaca jumpers every year. What could be better?

Choosing the right hairstyle

There are many, many types of hairstyles out there, but not all will look good on you unless the hairstyle fits the shape of your face. Below are the different hairstyles that are considered most flattering for each shape of face.

An oval face. The oval face is the perfect face. Almost any hairstyle will go with it, whether it is long or short, straight or curly. If you have an oval face, you will do well with having layers near your chin or cheekbones to draw attention to them. However, try to avoid hairstyles that add volumes to the top of your head it will make your face look longer.

A long face. If you have a long or oblong face, you should create the illusion of width to balance it out. You can add width to your face by doing your hair with long, side-swept bangs or chin-length bobs. You will also do well with curls and waves that frame the face.

If you have a long or oblong face, you should avoid letting your hair grow extremely long or having your hair cut extremely short. Such extreme hairstyles will take the width from your face and emphasize its length.

A round face. If people with long faces need to add width to their faces, people with round faces need to take some of the width and bulk off by adding length. If your face is round you need to create the illusion of length, and to do this, you can have your haircut just below your chin, or in graduated layers. Do not do your hair in short, one-length, blunt cuts, as it will only draw attention to the roundness of your face.

A square face. Having a square face means having an angular jaw. The hairstyle trick with having a square face is drawing attention away from that jaw. This is done by putting texture to your hair. Short curls do exactly this, as well as long layers that start just below the jawline. If your face has a square shape, you should try not to have your hair cut in one-length bobs or wear bangs that are cut bluntly. It will only emphasize the squareness of your face.

A heart-shaped face. Heart-shaped faces are pretty Valentines, but the pointed chin draws attention away from the eyes. If you have a heart-shaped face, you could bring focus to your eyes by wearing side-swept bangs, a fringe on your brow or long layers at the top. Or you could let your hair grow and have it done with layers that touch your cheekbones.

Jayne's Hair & Beauty Salon

Jayne's salon is a small business in the village of Burton Bradstock where lots of clients visit for regular hair and more recently beauty appointments.

This month Jayne celebrates 40 years of her hair-dressing career in Burton. Jayne completed her training at the Lansdown college, Bournemouth and after qualifying became West Dorset's first mobile hairdresser before opening the salon in 1970; when a shampoo and set was 8 shillings and a perm £2. With 3 mobile vans on the road and the salon, life was busy. Even after getting married and having a family with the help of staff, the salon still flourished.

More recently with the help of Jayne's husband, they refurbished the salon, which enabled their daughter Philippa to have her own beauty room.

A wide selection of hair and beauty treatments is available, from shampoo and sets, perms, cutting and colouring, to manicures, pedicures, waxing, facials etc. For more information please telephone (01308) 897309

Quintessential Therapies & Wellbeing

Homoeopathy - Pamela Rowlands

Don't let the credit crunch affect your health

The current economic climate could have health repercussions – stress can severely affect health and well-being, making us more prone to illness, warns Lyme Regis Homoeopath, Pamela Rowlands RSHom Stress prompts the body to increase production of the hormones adrenaline and cortisol, causing changes in blood pressure heart rate and metabolism – necessary in the short term, but over long periods this can lead to headaches, indigestion, diarrhoea, insomnia, general tiredness and even palpitations, anxiety and depression.

Homoeopathic treatment with a fully qualified and registered RSHom practitioner can help individuals cope better with the effects of stress – a carefully chosen homoeopathic medicine matched to the individual patient can help with the mental, emotional and physical symptoms of stress, by triggering the body's natural system of healing.

Pamela, who runs her practice in Lyme explained: "In homoeopathic medicine the approach is holistic, recognising that there is a connection between mind and body, with each prescription based on the individual patient's experience of their symptoms."

In 2005 a service evaluation of homoeopathic treatment at Bristol Homoeopathic Hospital reported that 70.7 per cent of 6,544 follow-up patients experienced improvement in their health, in a variety of conditions including migraine, irritable bowel syndrome, depression and chronic fatigue syndrome.1

Pamela added: "It is obviously better to seek treatment before symptoms become serious, recognising the early warning signs such as increased irritability, sleeplessness, and feelings of dread or guilt."

Minor, short lived symptoms can be treated at home with homoeopathic remedies, although chronic long-term illness and mental health symptoms should be seen by a professional homoeopath and your GP.

Here are just a few homoeopathic remedies and their situations which might be useful at home, but if symptoms persist after one or two doses Pamela stresses that you should take advice from a Homoeopath.

Nux vomica

Symptoms include: wakes at 3am or 4am, suffers heartburn and indigestion, has colic pains. Suits people who are burning the candle at both ends, overwork themselves, are irritable, keep going with coffee and feel the cold.

Arsenicum

Symptoms include: diarrhoea from anxiety, wakes midnight – 1am, suffers burning in the stomach with desire to sip water. Suits restless people who are fearful worriers, need to plan and feel the cold.

Sulphur

Symptoms include: offensive diarrhoea which drives from bed in the morning, excessive sweating, burning feet, waking after three or four hours. Suits stubborn people who need praise, worry about their health and crave sugar.

Argentum nitricum

Symptoms include: severe wind with loud passing, twitching, palpitations and diarrhoea from anticipation, periodic weakness. Suits impetuous but nervous people, always in a hurry, with lots of fears and anxieties and much heat.

Lycopodium

Symptoms include: bloated with wind, huge appetite, wakes as if from a fright, symptoms worse late afternoon/early evening, heartburn with sour burping. Suits fearful people lacking in confidence but can be bragging and assertive at home. Doesn't like undertaking new things.

Pamela can be contacted on 01297 445378 during business hours, and is happy to discuss your situation further.

Quintessential Therapies & Wellbeing was born out of an avid interest and belief in the power of holistic healing, and in particular that of vibrational energy healing. I am Crystal Therapist and an Usui Reiki practitioner. I also run relaxation classes and crystal workshops.

Reiki, and particularly Crystal Therapy, are often viewed as a little 'out there' but I hope to show people how both therapies can really help them to rebalance their body, mind and spirit.

In addition, I am in the process of developing an online wellbeing shop. It will include wellbeing products, books and book reviews, crystals of the month and tips on how to use them. It will also include articles on related topics and a forum for everyone to join in. I hope it will become a community for like minded people.

I also hope to offer Colour and Essence Therapy later this year to compliment the energy healing therapies currently offered.

New 'Cherub of the Year' Competition launched with a £10,000 cash prize!

Professional photographer, Greg Cameron Day has announced his immediate, local exclusive involvement in a brand new national competition to find the UK's bonniest baby.

"Cherubs" is the longest running and most respected baby photography promotion, set up by the Master Photographers Association in 1993. Tens of thousands of babies have been photographed over the years and Mums receive a complimentary Art Leather Folio with three photographs recording baby's first year.

Now, for the first time ever, a life-changing £10,000 cash prize is on offer to find the baby chosen as 'Cherub of the Year'.

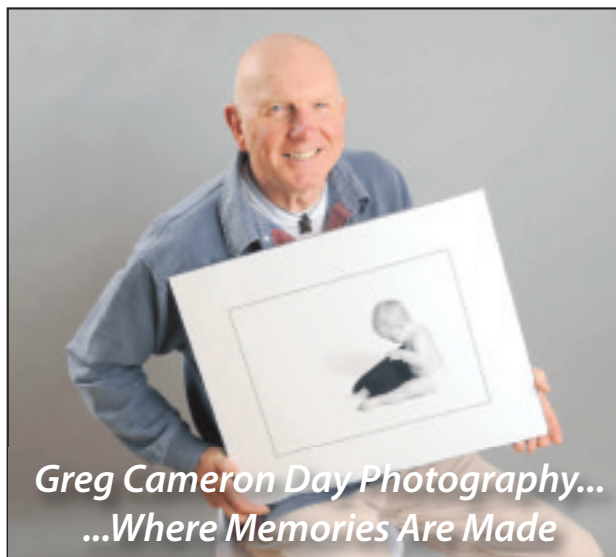

"As the exclusive Cherubs photographer for South and West Dorset we are very excited that the Cherub of the Year could be a baby from our area and this new competition is a fantastic additional reason to use a professional (Master) photographer to record the key stages of baby's development," says Greg.

Greg Cameron Day has won numerous awards for his photography including the national titles of Under Five, Wedding and Pet Portrait Photographer of the Year.

In addition to the main prize, 20 runners-up prizes of £25 Shopping Vouchers will also be awarded on a quarterly basis (80 in total).

For details about how to register on the Cherubs Baby Programme, please visit www.cherubs.uk.com or call Greg Cameron Day at his Dorchester studio on 01305 267211.

Keep them happy and healthy for life with help from The Pet Shop, Trinity Street

Spooky company for high tea!

Built in 1635, this Grade II listed building is one of the oldest in the town and was the Abbot's residence. It has been a tea room since 1902 and has been superbly and sympathetically renovated by the current owners, Derek and Deborah Dalley, including the refurbishment of the old gas lamps which still work.

They also found a copy of the Abbot's Bible with a 15th century cover over a 12th century manuscript, lodged up the main chimney.

Derek is a chef and prepares most of the food which he tries to source from local farms and producers in the country. All of the cakes and scones are baked fresh every morning, and they serve good, hearty breakfasts from 7.30am to 10.00am.

As well as the traditional 'cream teas' there is always homemade soup of the day, a wide selection of sandwiches and hot baguettes and a daily 'specials' board.

Festival countdown - Part II

THIS week we continue our preview of the forthcoming summer music festivals. Last time round we reached the beginning of July, which sees a month long season of concerts at Liverpool's Echo Arena.

It may not be a festival in the traditional sense, but that's how the city looks on its Summer Pops series of shows. Artists for, this, the tenth year of the festival, include the likes of Jackson Browne, Jools Holland, Rod Stewart and Sixties supergroup Crosby, Stills & Nash. For more information and ticket details, visit www.echoarena.com

There's also a similar event taking place at London's Somerset House from July 8th-18th. Their Summer Series boasts the likes of Air, Florence & The Machine, Corinne Bailey Rae, The Divine Comedy and Soul II Soul. Visit www.somersetshouse.org.uk/music for more information.

Scotland's biggest festival, T in the Park, takes place from July 9th-11th. The headliners are Muse, Eminem and Kasabian, with other big name acts including The Black Eyed Peas, The Prodigy, Jay-Z, Faithless, Stereophonics and Madness. You'll do well to track down a ticket at a sensible price as official sources have sold out, although eBay had over 500 available at the time of writing.

The third weekend of the month has an amazing choice of festivals on offer. Glade, the art and electronic music festival, takes place at Mattered Bowl, near Winchester, from July 16th-18th. This year's headliners are Orbital, Simian Mobile Disco and Tricky. Tickets are £135 (with camping) and available from www.gladefestival.com

The fifth Latitude Festival takes place at Henham Park in Suffolk the same weekend. Said to be more similar to continental festivals, as well as big name music acts, the bill also includes elements of theatre, art, comedy, cabaret, poetry, politics, dance and literature. This year's headliners are Florence & The Machine, Belle & Sebastian and Vampire Weekend. Tickets are £155 (with camping) and available from www.latitudefestival.co.uk

If you're looking for a family friendly festival, Guilfest is one of the best. This three-day event in, you guessed it, Guildford, is also on the same weekend. The eclectic mix of acts on offer includes Orbital, The Human League and Status Quo. Adult weekend camping tickets are £110 (children £60) and are available from www.guilfest.co.uk

And finally for this festival packed weekend is the trendy Lovebox Weekender in London's Victoria Park. Headliners include Dizzee Rascal (Friday, July 16th), Roxy Music (Saturday, July 17th) and Grace Jones (Sunday, July 18th). With its urban location, no camping is available, but there are discounts on the £45 day tickets if you want to go more than once (£80 for a Friday/Saturday or Saturday/Sunday ticket, £99 for a three-day pass). Get your tickets at www.lovebox.net

WOMAD (World of Music, Arts and Dance) festivals take place all around the world each year, with events as far flung as New Zealand and Abu Dhabi now firmly on the calendar. But it's the British event that's the original WOMAD, first taking place at Shepton Mallet in 1982. The festival now takes place at Charlton Park in Wiltshire, and this year's event runs from July 23rd-25th. Weekend tickets (with camping) are £125 each and available from www.womadshop.com

Global Gathering, the dance music festival, is another that takes place all over the planet. This year's British event is on Friday 30th-Saturday 31st July at its usual home of the Long Marston Airfield, near Stratford-upon-Avon. The headliners are Faithless and Dizzee Rascal; tickets at £120 each are available from www.globalgathering.com

Dorset's top festival – which we've already previewed in View 2 and will continue to do so until the event takes place – is Camp Festival (July 30th-August 1st) at Lulworth Castle. This is the third year the festival has taken place, a spin-off from the original Bestival that takes place on the Isle of Wight each September.

The big names making their way to the coast for 2010 include Madness, The Human League and Friendly Fires. Camp Festival is probably the most family friendly of all festivals; adult weekend camping tickets are £155, students £145, 11-17 year-olds £77.50 and free for ages ten and under (although you must still obtain a ticket). Visit www.campfestival.net/tickets to book.

From one extreme to the other, also taking place that weekend is Sonisphere, Europe's first hard rock touring festival. The UK event at Knebworth boasts the likes of Iron Maiden, Alice Cooper, Rammstein and Iggy & The Stooges. Weekend tickets (with camping) at £157.50 each are available from <http://uk.sonispherefestivals.com/buy-tickets>

● OUR summer preview concludes next week with August, another festival filled month including Reading, IOW Festival and the V Festival.

Exhibition looks at Bridport's Art Heart

BRIDPORT has over the years steadily been earning itself a reputation as a centre for the arts. For the past three decades the town has been attracting painters, sculptors and other visual artists from both home and abroad.

Now a new exhibition together with an accompanying book has been put together to, in part, capture the essence of this artistic endeavour.

"Portrait of the Artist", which opens at Bridport Arts Centre's Allsop Gallery, on April 17 is a group exhibition of twenty-five painters and sculptors that seeks to explore and shed some light on this thriving, if enigmatic art scene.

The project is a collaboration between three elements that thrive in the town: art, photography and writing. Last year Bridport-based painter Kit Glaisyer approached internationally renowned photographer George Wright to set about trying to capture this arts scene. They were later joined by writer Lu Orza, who conducted informal interviews with the artists in their studios, from which she created a narrative that tries to unravel the intriguing series of motivations and connections behind their work.

She says, "for me this has been a fascinating process. Some of the artists opened up on a very personal level about their lives, while others concentrated on their work. What is noticeable is there is no Bridport School; artists aren't trying to do the same type of thing. They are very much individualistic in their approach to their art. The exciting thing about Bridport is that the art that's happening here is so incredibly diverse."

Painter Kit Glaisyer says that "artists are attracted to Bridport because this is a place where they feel they can be themselves and where individuality is actively encouraged. This makes it the perfect place for idealists, non-conformists, dreamers and all those who are inspired to follow their own paths."

"Lu Orza", he says, "has dug beneath the surface to find the deeper intentions of the artists. What she reveals can be quite edgy and challenging, which is refreshing. She has avoided the temptation of the easy cliché in her writing. And George Wright has beautifully captured the romance and the drama of creative people and artists, there's a theatrical element to his work that illustrates the adventure of being an artist. He has produced a stunning series of photographs that clearly evoke the excitement we all feel about the artists working in and around Bridport."

The exhibition runs from Saturday 17 April to 10 May, and is open Tuesday to Saturday 10-4pm daily. Bridport Arts Centre, South Street, Bridport tel: 01308 424204 www.bridport-arts.com

The book "Portrait of the Artist" will be launched at 7pm on the opening night with an introduction by artist John Hubbard, and will be available at a reduced price of £14.95. The book will then be available for £19.95 from all good book shops.

True Blues

BLUES legend Ian Briggs and his band The Supervampers are set to bring their brand of authentic blues music to the Marine Theatre in Lyme Regis on Friday 16th April. Having played with all the greats, master harmonica player Ian Briggs is now fronting his own fabulous band which he is bringing to Lyme.

One of the finest blues harmonica players in the world, Ian Briggs has recorded and toured with many artists over the years including Bernie Marsden (Whitesnake), Eddie Martin, Michael Roach and Savoy Brown. In an illustrious past he also played with the legendary Yardbirds, while a certain Eric Clapton was in the band at the time. Ian has been playing the harmonica since he was fourteen years old. Early inspirations included the playing of Cyril Davies with Alexis Korner in the early sixties and the legendary artists he saw playing at Eel Pie Island, The Crawdaddy Club and the L'Auberge Coffee Bar.

The Supervampers line-up is Ian Briggs on harmonica and vocals, Andy Christie on guitar, Chris Harris on bass, and Dave Sheen (drums and vocals). The band's guests have included the late great Dick Hextall-Smith on sax and Doc Fingers from Vancouver on piano & vocals.

Marine Theatre Director Ian Stephens said: "This is real blues played with total commitment. I am often asked by our customers to bring more blues music to Lyme, and Ian Briggs is one of the very best."

Ian Briggs and the Supervampers will be on stage at the Marine Theatre on Friday April 16th at 8pm. Tickets cost £10, available from Lyme Regis Tourist Information Centre on 01297 442138, online at www.marinetheatre.org.uk, or on the door.

Smith's cartoon news on show at the Arts Centre

NEWSPAPER cartoons can be all too easily dismissed by the humourless. But these sketches with their pithy one-liners can often get to the very nub of the issue of the day. More so, say, than thousands of words of news coverage.

One Bridport man knows this better than most. Sam Smith has been a professional cartoonist for over 30 years working for all the "big beasts" including the London Evening Standard, The Times, The Financial Weekly, Daily Mail, Radio Times, The Independent, The Oldie, Punch, Sunday Business, Private Eye and the Spectator.

Although he worked mainly for the City pages and Sport covering British and World events that have included the winter of discontent, the rise and fall of Thatcherism, the Stock Market big bang and City bonuses - the subjects of his eye have gone much further.

His influences include Andre Francois, George Booth, B Kliban (whose Cat Book became an international best seller) and Saul Steinberg.

Smith says that his life's work so far amounts to some 9,000 cartoons the cream of which will be featured in this exhibition as well as some of Sam's personal favourites. They will be on sale.

Bridport Arts Centre, South Street, Bridport, foyer and café. Free. The exhibition opens on Saturday, April 17 and continues until Saturday, May 29.

Poetry for Pleasure

by Frank McGarry

ON the island of St. Kitts in the Caribbean there is a wonderful flower-filled tropical garden at Romney Manor. It was there I saw a little green hummingbird, which I later identified as an Antillean Crested. It was the size of my little finger and weighed maybe an ounce or two. In this exquisite poem, M.J. Chapman describes the beauty and bravery of these amazing little birds.

The Humming Bird

Still sparkles here the glory of the west,
Shews his crowned head, and bares his jewelled breast,
In whose bright plumes the richest colours live,
Who's dazzling hues no mimic art can give –
The purple amethyst, the emerald's green,
Contrasted, mingle with the ruby's sheen;
While over all a tissue is put on
Of golden gauze, by fairy fingers spun –
Small as a beetle, as an eagle brave,
In purest ether he delights to lave:
The sweetest flowers alone descends to woo,
Rifles their sweets, and lives on honey-dew –
So light his kisses, not a leaf is stirred
By the bold, happy, amorous humming-bird.

Wouldn't it be wonderful to have hummingbirds in our gardens too? Although, in the south of England, we have a pretty marvellous variety of small birds of our own; from the wren and long-tailed tit to the blackbird and thrush. We spend a fortune on feeding them too, don't we, just so that we can watch them eat.

Her Final Flight

The greenfinch feeds on palm seed kernels
The robin pecks at bacon fat
The blackbird loves a juicy raisin
The nuthatch likes a peanut snack.

So many songbirds at our window
We love to watch them eat their fill
Some prefer the dinner table
Others choose the window sill.

In their hundreds, non-stop calling,
Bullfinch, bluetit, great tit too
Swooping, landing, eating, leaving –
More traffic than at Waterloo.

With feathered belly full to bursting
A chaffinch makes her final flight
She doesn't see the greenhouse window
And crashes – into endless night.

We're sad to see her broken body
To know she'll never fly again
But glad her end came without warning,
Her sudden death was without pain.

In 1733, in his 'Essay on Man' Alexander Pope encapsulated an eternal truth in these famous words: "Hope springs eternal in the human breast". This capacity for hope seems, indeed, to be built into the DNA of the human race. Often it defies all logic. Like a bird's song it is instinctive, uncontrollable and uplifting. If you're feeling a little low today, this Emily Dickinson poem should be good for you.

"Hope" is the thing with Feathers

Hope is the thing with feathers
That perches in the soul
And sings the tune without the words
And never stops – at all

And sweetest – in the Gale – is heard
And sore must be the storm
That could abash the little bird
That kept so many warm.

I've heard it in the chilliest land
And on the strangest sea
Yet, never, in extremity,
It asked a crumb – of Me.

REVIEW | Make Way for Lucia

THE play "Make Way for Lucia" was based on the novels of E.F. Benson and was, to my mind, brilliantly scripted by John Van Druten. His work demanded much of the performers but, in return, gave them great scope to express their talents. These opportunities were grasped totally by the members of the Lyme Regis Dramatic Society and the result was two of the best lead performances that I have witnessed these many moons, at the Marine Theatre or anywhere else.

Anne King played the part of Miss Mapp, manipulative, deceitful, self appointed leader of Tilling society who brooked no pretenders to her throne, with brilliance. Every aspect of her performance, be it facial expression, diction or pose, cemented her into the role, leaving no doubt in any one's mind that she was indeed the interfering, gossiping, devious spinster, allowing no ripple to disturb the surface of her particular pond.

If her performance was an outstanding one, another came from Hazel Cawte in the title role. A newcomer to the town, ostensibly for peace and quiet, she turned into an opponent worthy of the Mapp steel and matched her in every aspect of divisiveness. They bounced off each other, if that is the right expression, extremely well and, although amor vincit omnia for both of them in the end, one was left with the distinct impression that the breach was by no means healed.

If these two were the stars, there were other performances very worthy of note. Chris Knight undertook the role of Major Flint, ex-Indian army, to very good effect, displaying a fine military bearing, and huffing and puffing most realistically. He was entrapped by Miss Mapp in the end, while Fred Humphrey, also well cast, ended the play affianced to Lucia. He played the part of the rather diffident suitor well indeed, handicapped as he was by a very colourful rug.

The parts of clerical couple, the Reverend Bartlett and his lady wife must have been great fun to play. He, Ed Standhaft, hailing from north of the Tweed and boasting a Scottish accent that would crack anvils, and she, Diana Dixon, giggly, gawky and sporting millinery that tended to create the 'Sou'wester' effect. He did however wear his collar with a precision born of long acquaintance and managed to retain his kilt throughout the fancy dress scene, just; while she demonstrated a gait reminiscent of the late Joyce Grenfell on occasion.

There were others too. Cherine Hill did considerable leg work as confirmed gossip Godiva Plaistow; as did Pam Ladd in the role of Lucial's maid and sometimes confidante, Grosvenor, while Jim Pettifer and Linda Crawford played stalwart couple Mr & Mrs Wyse, the real leaders of the gang. There was Jerry Smith too. Although his role of Cortese the composer was a cameo one, he displayed considerable stage presence during it.

The whole play flowed very smoothly and this was helped by the fact that there were no scene changes. Much trouble had been taken however with the details of the set. (I liked the dining chairs that were certainly 1930s). The costumes too were most appropriate, and details, such as the footwear, appeared absolutely right.

Yes, to my mind, "Make Way for Lucia" was an outstanding production all round, with that most sought-after award, the Jenkin "Pound of Sausages", going to both leading ladies.

RUFUS HOUND ON HIS INPIRATIONS, ADVICE FOR NEW COMEDIANS AND COMEDY DANCING

VIEW FROM reporter Tom Glover recently spoke to Rufus Hound, star of comedy panel show Argumental and surprise highlight of the recent Sport Relief show. Rufus is set to headline this month's Electric Comedy night on Thursday, April 22nd at Bridport Electric Palace.

Is it fair to say you are probably most famous for your success on Let's Dance for Sport Relief?

That's probably about fair. What's hard of course is that you spend a lot of years writing material, putting jokes together, and performing on the road and then you realise that what people really want is for you to put on a dress on and do a funny dance. That said, it's something which I spent a lot of time trying to get right and so the fact that it won was staggering. I'm definitely proud of having done it; I just don't want to have to do it ever again.

Have you received any dodgy picture messages from Ashley Cole since your performance?

Yeah, one or two, I'm keeping them in the vault to sell to the News of the World, that's my pension plan.

I think you'll have to join the queue won't you?

Yeah exactly, when I come to claim my pension there will be so many of those in the public domain the rarity will be not having some.

Do you ever worry about how people will react to your material?

No, but I'm beginning to. I've always taken the line that comedy is one of the last real bastions of free speech. I definitely hear people say things on stage which I find hurtful or harmful or offensive but it doesn't mean that it's not their right to say them. It just means I would think twice about seeing them again. I think there is this dangerous idea that exists at the moment that it is a human right not to be offended and therefore people are trying to look towards councils and governments who already have themselves a vested interest in quashing freedom of speech and that's all the encouragement they need.

What would you define yourself as?

I'm still really trying to figure that out myself to be honest. I've been thinking a lot about this recently.

HOUND DOG | Rufus will be headlining Electric Comedy with Mike Wilmoth next week

The trouble is for me was that as a teenager I was hugely inspired by stand up but as a younger man I was always inspired hugely by TV. I feel that TV has always been a massive part of my life. If you want to do the pink questions on trivial pursuit then I'm your man.

So I don't know really I have these two conflicting ideas.

What can people expect to see from you as a stand up?

I would expect not to see the nice man from television because really in many ways comedy clubs are a place where intelligent grown ups go to hear other vaguely intelligent grown ups talk about the world around you. I'll be talking about god and being dad and things like that.

So where do you get your inspiration from?

What really gave me the inspiration was when I started on Argumental on Dave. I was doing good business as a compere and then I was suddenly on that show with Johnny Vegas, Jimmy Carr, Frankie Boyle, Dara O'Briain, Chris Addison, just these guys who are freaking unbelievably good comics and it was working with those guys that made me very aware of the fact that if I was going to do any business myself I really needed to raise my game. So since Argumental really I have had more of a sense of what I wanted to do with comedy and therefore that has kind of informed what I talk about.

Do you remember your first gig as a stand up?

Yeah absolutely, I remember I got the worst case of Elvis gig I've ever had in my life. My mouth went dry, I was only doing three minutes but I spent literally two and a half of it with my right leg shaking looking more like and Elvis impersonator than a stand up comic.

What advice would you give to someone starting out in comedy?

Gig, that's it. If you want to start out in comedy then there is no point doing things with your friends that make the six of you laugh, you've got to get out there, figure out who you are what your voice is and the only way of doing that is by trying to make your audience laugh.

Cowell gets psychologists in for Britain's Got Talent

SIMON Cowell has recruited a team of psychologists for the latest batch of Britain's Got Talent stars, according to a report.

The music mogul wants this year's contestants to have 24-hour access to telephone counselling as they deal with the pressure of the live rounds, The Mirror claims.

It is thought that the phone service will also be made available to rejected applicants as they may struggle with their new-found fame when the audition shows begin.

Insiders have suggested that the therapists will work with experts from the mental health charity Mind and actively monitor the wellbeing of the acts.

A source said: "Simon wants to make responsible television and, this time around, is taking no chances."

The rumoured changes come after last year's series led to Susan Boyle checking in to The Priory clinic.

A 94-year-old singer was among the contestants who tried out for this year's Britain's Got Talent.

Shropshire pensioner Stan Saxon was 93 when he performed Frank Sinatra's 'My Way' for judges Piers Morgan, Louis Walsh and Amanda Holden at the Birmingham auditions in February.

"This is my jewel in the crown, I've told everyone about it," he told the Shropshire Star.

Saxon, who regularly performs at karaoke nights in Telford pubs, was persuaded to enter the reality show by local entertainer Bobby Ray.

The great-grandfather has already released a CD of his music and won a Pontin's holiday camp karaoke contest in 2007.

Britain's Got Talent will return on Saturday, April 17 at 8pm on ITV1.

ASHES To Ashes star Dean Andrews has promised that fans will be "really happy" with the show's final episode.

The actor, who plays DI Ray Carling on the sci-fi drama, confirmed that he was pleased when he discovered how the programme's many mysteries were to be resolved.

Speaking on GMTV, he explained: "Everything is tied up. You get all of the answers from Life On Mars and Ashes To Ashes. I think they're all given within this final series and you realise what it was all about."

Asked about the moment he read the final script, Andrews commented: "You kind of look at it and go, 'That's genius - I'd not thought of that at all! I hadn't, anyway - but maybe I'm a bit stupid!'"

"I just thought it was a great ending. I thought, 'That answers everything'. I think everyone will be really happy."

The final series of Ashes To Ashes is airing on Friday nights at 9pm on BBC One.

Joni Mitchell Project is more than a tribute

Sally Barker and Glen Hughes will recreate Joni's great songs

IN this wonderful homage Sally Barker has captured the essence of one of the great singer/songwriters of a generation.

Be it the classic Big Yellow Taxi or California she aims to achieve the same distinctive sound that has made Joni Mitchell such a popular and enigmatic figure on the music scene.

The JMP was a cherished dream for Sally whose long solo career saw her voice frequently compared to the Canadian.

But the Joni Mitchell Project is much more than simply a tribute, for Sally Barker breathes new life into the classics.

She is joined by multi-instrumentalist Glen Hughes who is capable of breathing new life into some of the greatest songs ever written.

Sally Barker is perhaps better known to many folk fans as the original lead singer of The Poozies described as the "UK's finest all-female outfit" and

"Britain's premiere Celtic roots all-woman supergroup".

During her career she has opened for both Bob Dylan and Robert Plant in Germany.

She has also appeared on the Show of Hands album Live at the Royal Albert Hall. In 1994 she recorded the song "I Misunderstood" for the CD "The World Is A Wonderful Place: The Songs Of Richard Thompson". Barker also provided vocals for the 1997 Pete Morton CD "Courage, Love and Grace" and the 1998 Janet Russell CD "Gathering the Fragments".

The Joni Mitchell Project is at the Bridport Arts Centre, South Street, on Friday, April 23rd at 8pm. Box office: 01308 424204. Tickets priced at £9, £8 for supporters, £7 concessions.

Jude takes the law
into his own hands
in Repo Men

ROMANTIC modern war drama "Dear John" (12A) is an adaptation of Nicholas Sparks' novel of the same name.

The film stars Channing Tatum ("She's The Man," "Public Enemies") as young soldier John Tyree and Amanda Seyfried ("Mean Girls," "Mamma Mia!") as college student Savannah Curtis.

When the two meet during John's leave, they fall in love almost instantly and begin a long-distance relationship through handwritten letters. John believes this will be the last year of his enlistment, but following the 9/11 terrorist attacks he decides to continue fighting for his country rather than returning home.

The couple drift apart and finally, John receives a letter revealing that she is engaged to another man. However, a tragic series of events bring the couple closer again.

NOT for the faint-hearted, gory sci-fi "Repo Men" (18), is based in the near future, when humans have extended their lives by creating artificial organs with an expensive price tag.

The down-side of this medical breakthrough is that if you can't keep up with your payments, highly skilled repo men will be sent to claim back their property, with no concern for your survival.

Top repo man Remy, played by Jude Law, is the best in the business until he suffers a heart attack on the job, and wakes up with one of the artificial organs himself... and a hefty bill.

When he can't make the payments, Remy's former partner Jake (Forest Whitaker) is asked to track him down.

Released on Friday, April 16th

THE film adaptation of Robert Harris' novel "The Ghost" (15) stars Ewan McGregor and Pierce Brosnan.

A successful ghostwriter (McGregor), whose name is never revealed in the film, takes on the opportunity of a lifetime when he is asked to write the memoirs of former Prime Minister, Adam Lang (Brosnan).

On the day the ghostwriter starts work, Lang is accused of a war crime and inundated with reporters and protestors. He continues his research, uncovering clues his predecessor on the project – who died in an accident – had left behind, linking Lang to the CIA.

LYME BAY CHORALE TO GIVE FIRST CONCERT
WITH NEW ORGAN

ON Saturday, May 8th, the Lyme Bay Chorale will give their first concert at St Michael's in Lyme Regis since the arrival of the church's new organ, and they have chosen Kodaly's 'Laudes Organi' as the centerpiece of the event. Written in 1966, this work is challenging for both organist and singers, and fascinating for the audience.

"It's a wonderful piece for our choir," says Musical Director Alex Davies, "with unusual harmonies and a superb organ part that will really put our newly-installed Skrabl organ through its paces. Being a work of praise and blessing for the organ, it's also highly suitable for the occasion."

The programme also includes Haydn's 'Te Deum' and 'How Lovely are Thy Dwellings' by Brahms, as well as a new piece written especially for the choir by Peter Milmer. 'Great is the Lord', a dramatic, colourful setting of Psalm 48, also has an organ accompaniment. "It's thrilling to have a work composed just for us," says Alex. "And no doubt Peter had the new organ in mind when writing it!"

The concert begins at 7.30pm. Tickets are £10 and the choir will be making a donation to Shelter Box, an international disaster relief charity.

Sought after Golf

THE Volkswagen Golf has been revealed as the UK's most sought after car, according to statistics from leading used car website Carmony.co.uk.

A common sight on British roads for 30 years, the Volkswagen Golf tops the category of most searched for car. Volkswagen is the most popular make of car. The top 10 most searched for cars include:

1. Volkswagen Golf
2. Fiat 500
3. Ford Focus
4. Jeep Cherokee
5. Audi R8
6. Audi A3
7. Land Rover Freelander
8. Nissan Micra
9. Chrysler Voyager
10. Toyota Celica

"The Volkswagen Golf has always been a favourite with the British motorist and it's no surprise it's the most searched for model on Carmony.co.uk," commented Alan Hazelhurst, Managing Director, Carmony.co.uk.

"There are currently over 70,000 manufacturer and dealer approved used cars on the site, a number that's grown massively since the site launched last year. Whether consumers have a specific make/model in mind, or they're searching for a vehicle to match their own particular lifestyle, we offer huge choice."

Since the site launched a year ago, there have been nearly 13 million searches for used cars. Consumers are able to search the site via make/model or lifestyle. Designed to make finding a car even easier, Carmony.co.uk created the simple, easy to use lifestyle search facility which matches users to a car based on their needs - be it room for the whole gang, boot space for the dog or a car that matches their green credentials

Hydraulically steered axle truck

The UK's first Volvo FH16-700 equipped with a hydraulically-steered centre axle has entered service with West Country bulk operator H. Curtis & Sons of Pensford, near Bristol.

Supplied by Volvo Dealer Wales and West Truck and Bus in Avonmouth, the FH16-700 is employed primarily to work with end-tip or walking floor trailers and is often required to negotiate narrow, unmade farm tracks as well as A-Class roads and Motorways throughout the UK and Europe.

Driver Derek Curtis, a partner in the business of H. Curtis & Sons, reports that the new Volvo is "simply amazing" when referring to the power, comfort and road-holding of his FH16-700. "I have always driven the biggest and best truck models available," he said. "So I am used to comfort and power. But the phenomenal torque of this new Volvo with the latest I-Shift automated gearbox and steered centre-axle has really surprised me. It handles perfectly whether it's in a farmyard or on an auto-route. 'Awesome' is an over-used term for this type of truck, but it really is simply amazing!"

Plated for operation at 44-tonnes the Curtis FH16-700 features all the comforts of home. Included are a refrigerator, microwave oven, flat-screen TV and full leather cab interior. Meanwhile outside, the tractor unit boasts a metallic pearl paint finish, polished 'Durabrite' alloy wheels and supplementary lighting.

Specified for optimum fuel economy without any sacrifice in performance, the 6x2 tractor unit is geared so that at the legal maximum speed of 90 kph, engine speed is limited to a leisurely 1200rpm.

"The low engine speed and massive power makes for a quiet, relaxing drive even when fully loaded," says Derek Curtis.

Aggressive behaviour worries

Aggressive behaviour behind the wheel is the worst bad habit company drivers display according to fleet managers.

Fleet industry guide, FleetDirectory.co.uk polled fleets to assess which habit they viewed to be the worst among a list of five common driver problems.

Aggressive behaviour came top by a long way, taking 40 per cent of the vote followed in second place by driving too fast taking 27 per cent of the vote.

Fleet managers were less concerned by poor pedal control, with 'crunching gears' attracting the least number of votes with six per cent of the vote and 'braking too hard' taking seven per cent.

A lack of tidiness put 'making a mess in the car' in third place with 20 per cent.

Despite the problems caused by other habits, it was short-tempered drivers that worried fleet industry folk the most and with good reason.

Losing your cool behind the wheel doesn't just lead to excessive risk-taking; it encourages others to react in a similar way. Aggressive behaviour such as cutting another driver up can encourage revenge attacks from similarly infuriated drivers. As a result, past studies have hinted strongly at a correlation between accident history and aggression levels. According to a study from Responsible Young Drivers carried out in 2008, drivers with a high self-perceived levels of courtesy had fewer accidents in the previous three years than those that rated themselves as having low levels of courtesy.** Unfortunately there is no established cause and effect, it could be that having an accident encourages a driver to be more aggressive in future or that being aggressive in the first place makes it more likely that a driver will be caught up in a crash. Either way it's clear that an aggressive driving style or habits are worrying trait in drivers from the fleet manager's perspective.

Aggressive behaviour can include cutting other driver's up, rude hand gestures, tailgating, light flashing, verbal abuse, deliberately obstructing others and even physical attacks.

PREMIER

THE outcome of the Premier Division title is still in the balance after the top of the table clash between South Petherton and Lyme Regis at Lightgate Lane ended goal less and honours even.

Lyme Regis manager Robin Townsend admitted he would have taken a point before the game kicked-off. As it was his side created the better of what few chances were created. Rob Thomson thudded an effort against the Pethy crossbar just before the hour mark, but the hosts also went close at the death when the Seaside's defender Malcolm Darby was forced into a goal line clearance which means Lyme goalkeeper Ashley Caddy and his defence have now kept 11 clean sheets in their last 15 games.

Beaminster are also still in the title running. The Rainbows capitalized on their rivals deadlock by strolling to a 3-0 win over depleted Ilminster Town Reserves.

Tom Hounsell gave Beaminster a 1-0 lead at the break and second-half strikes from Murray Legg and Tristan Gale (pen) sealed a league double over the Blues and took Beaminster back to the top of the Division on goal difference from Lyme. Beaminster manager Paddy Ford picked out Hounsell and Russell Legg as his top men.

A 3-0 home defeat at the hands of Merriott Rovers means Charmouth have now gone 20 games without a League win. Pete Symes put the visitors on the road to victory with a goal midway through the first-half. A Barry Haynes brace, the second a penalty, then confirmed the win and Charmouth's relegation back down into Division One. Despite the loss Charmouth manager Mike Walton was impressed by the performances of Dan Rendall and Dan Boot.

But who will accompany the Robins? White Horse did their outside chances of survival a power of good by beating struggling Combe Reserves 4-2 at Symondsburry. Russell bagged a first-half double for Horse with a Wayne Behan penalty keeping the Saints in the hunt at 2-1. But the hosts weren't to be denied and strikes from Colin Paul and Tom Gale meant Dave Masters' strike counted for little as Combe slipped a place to ninth.

Pincombe calls it a day

However it wasn't all good news for the West Dorset side. Popular manager Ian Pincombe confirmed to ViewSport after the game that he would be resigning at the end of the season due to work commitments.

Crewkerne Town relegation fears are not over yet. The Tigers four game unbeaten run came to an end as they were beaten 2-1 at Misterton. Things looked good when Tim Hooker opened the scoring but Mark Crabb leveled soon after and Ricky Smith netted the winner on the hour.

Perry Street won their first home win of 2010 with an impressive 5-1 thumping of Barrington. Strikers Kris Groves (16) and Ben Stevens (14) took their combined tally up to 30 with a double each.

DIVISION ONE

WITH the Division One table clearly split into two distinct halves - all teams still have plenty to play for.

West &amp; Middle Chinnock are still in the driving seat for the promotion places after beating Winsham United 4-2 at Oxleaze. Ian Masters had a good afternoon recording his third hat-trick of the season whilst team mate Harry Hebditch had a day to forget as he missed two penalties.

The other promotion-chasing match up took place at Netherbury where the Ambers took on Ilminster Town Colts. It turned out to be a bad day all round for Netherbury manager Andy Loudon, not only did his team go down 2-1 but they also, in his opinion, let themselves down with some constant hounding of referee Clive Crabb. Andy Fish headed Colts into an interval lead which Craig Stuckey doubled before Danny Rawlings pulled one back with a 75th minute penalty after a foul on winger Mark Cuff.

Farway United maintained second place with a 2-0 win over visiting Pymore who turned up with the bare 11 and look certain to be deeply involved in the relegation battle.

There was second-half goal flurry at the Davey Fort where Forton Rangers ended Lyme Regis Reserves mini-revival with a 4-3 win. Rory Holmes fired the Seaside's into a half-time lead but the fireworks stated straight from the restart. Steve Baker cracked home a superb free-kick into the top corner from 20-yards to level seconds after the restart and Tom Robinson edged Forton ahead five minutes later. Ninety seconds later Lyme were level when Ally Rattenbury curled home a trademark left-footed free-kick but the goal-rush didn't stop there. Just three minutes later Rangers were back in front when Robinson netted from the penalty spot. The visitors finally put daylight between the teams when Baker bagged his second before Lyme's Aaron Cleal rounded-off the scoring in the 75th minute. Top performers for the Seaside's were striker Fred Thomson and keeper Jedd Whittington with Jon Smith taking the Rangers plaudits.

The crucial relegation battle at Horse-shoe Lane saw Thorncombe land their first three point haul in 2010 with a 2-1 win over fast-fading Chard Rangers. After a goalless first 45 Russell Gage broke the deadlock for the Thorns with a precision free-kick but Tony Thresher equalised with a header that crept in via the crossbar and post. The winner came nine minutes from time when Gage crossed from Nick Gray to slot home from close range.

DIVISION TWO

MILLWEY Rise remain the only unbeaten team in the League.

The Slopers are also likely to become the first team promoted this season (or possibly Hawkchurch) after extending their lead at the top to nine points after a comfortable 4-0 win over South Petherton Reserves at First Avenue. Three goals in the opening 15 minutes saw Rise cruise to victory. Mark Jenkins, Adam Whitehouse, Bryan Perry man and Ian Hall (penalty) scored for the hosts.

Norton lost ground as they shipped goals from Sam Murley (2) and Rich Pipin in a 3-0 defeat at Shepton Beauchamp.

Third placed Dowlish and Donyatt were held 2-2 at Forton Reserves.

Drimpton appear to be heading to Division Three after a Stacey Hawes goal gave Hinton all three points and the visitors a tenth straight defeat.

Josh Hunter took his season's tally to 18 with a hat-trick in Beaminster Reserves' 4-3 at Uplyme. The Rainbows led all the way with Matt Tolman also on the score sheet. Adam Neale smashed home 20-yard screamer for the pick of the hosts' goals and added a second late-on with Gavin Fowler notching his 16th of the campaign in between.

DIVISION THREE

TIM Hussey took his person tally to 28 with four goals as Hawkchurch won the Devon-derby at Millwey Rise Reserves. Dan Turner and Mark Herrod also found the net as the Hawks romped home 6-0.

Simon Denslow's 35th of the season helped Crewkerne Rangers to a 2-1 win over lowly Combe A.

Lyme Regis Bantams returned home from Henhayes with a point but felt they should have had all three after drawing 2-2 at Crewkerne Reserves. Rhys Pateron's sixth of the season put the Seaside's ahead but Nick Bazely leveled before the break. Ben Morgan restored the Lyme lead but back came the Tigers and a neat free-kick from Tom Gannaway ensured the points were shared.

DIVISION FOUR

DESPITE missing several players to a sickness bug, Waytown Hounds pulled-off one of the day's best results and reignited their promotion hopes in winning 2-1 at league leaders Winsham Reserves.

Ashley Doble put the hosts ahead but Tom Rutland equalised and it was left to Man-of-the-Match Ethan Guppy to net the decider in the 70th minute.

Combe B completed their season in fine style with a 7-3 win at Barrington Reserves. Farway Reserves, league leaders for so long early on have all-but blown their chances after falling to their fifth successive defeat. The latest reverse came in a 4-0 hiding at Ilminster A.

UPLYME YOUTH 4 BEACON KNIGHTS 3

AFTER an even opening period the deadlock was broken when Jack Rumens found Kyle Knight who slotted the ball home. Beacon Knights speedily came back forcing James to jump high to prevent a perfectly lobbed ball hitting the back of the net; but ten minutes later, after a goalmouth melee, the visitors equalised - leaving the half-time score at one each.

Uplyme began the second-half with venom and, one minute in, keeper James banged the ball forward up to Josh Armytage who out-sprinted the defence to score. After an evenly balanced 20 minutes of play the Knights levelled again.

Four minutes later, after Armytage took the ball up and had a shot at goal, it was Jones who tieded up and produced Uplyme's third goal. The excitement continued for the rest of the second half with more saves from Uplyme's keeper and a further goal from Jones of Uplyme and, near the final whistle, another from Beacon Knights.

Uplyme's Man of the Match was Ryan Boyle for his relentless hard work. off at 6.30 pm.

Seed leads Lyme to bowl victory

LYME REGIS GOLF with Steve Percival

AFTER a very disappointing Easter weekend, with competitions cancelled and general golf severely curtailed, it was a relief to have the following week see a more active participation by both general club members and representative teams. The men's and junior sections staged two very successful events with some outstanding individual performances in both:

Junior Easter Cup competition

POSTPONED from the Easter weekend, the junior competition featured some outstanding performances from the up and coming youngsters in the club. Playing off the competition tees the participants needed to make a significant extra distance on some of the holes whilst, at the same time, maintaining control and accuracy near to and on to the green. In this respect the first three places were justifiably achieved by a trio of thirteen year olds who each played outstanding golf to card excellent scores. In first place with a gross score of 77 which gave him a net 64 was George Seed. His card recorded no "sixes" which is excellent in itself, but also shows that he was only one shot over gross par after 9 holes. Not only has he now achieved extra distance in his "long game" but he has also honed his already steady short game by regular use of the newly opened "pitch and putt" located near to the main club house. In second place, with net 67 was David Lyon who also carded an almost faultless round. In third place was George Yorke who, despite an "8" on the par 4 12th hole recorded a very creditable net 71 As a result of their excellent performances all three players have achieved an appropriate reduction of their respective handicaps.

Broadstone Beckford Challenge Bowl

SUNDAY, April 11th saw clear skies dry conditions and a cool but only steady wind for the Lyme Regis Golf Club to host old rivals Yeovil in the preliminary round of the annual "Beckford Bowl" competition.

Played over a morning session of foursomes and an afternoon of singles this was a fiercely contested event. As all players have to play off a scratch handicap some of the 10 man Lyme Regis team needed to play at least up to if not better than their club handicap. After the morning foursomes Lyme were well in contention and went into the afternoon with a lead of 3 to 2.

Although expectations were not high for an overall success, the Lyme team took on the challenge well and, under the captaincy of Roger Seed, were the eventual winners by the margin of 91/2 to 51/2. Lyme now have to face either Hayling or Ferndown away in May.

LIFELINE: Russell Weller's double keeps White Horse survival hopes alive after 4-2 win over Combe.

IN FORM: Tom Hounsell opened the scoring as Beaminster returned to top spot in Premier.

CLOSE: Rob Thomson was denied by the woodwork in Lyme's goalless draw at South Petherton.

SILVER FOR RATHBONE

◆ BRILLIANT: Steven Rathbone, complete with trophy and silver medals is congratulated on his success by club president Fred Bowditch and junior secretary Roger (Hoot) Guppy

WEST BAY SEA ANGLING

WORLD Junior Shore Angling Champion Steven Rathbone had to settle for individual silver in this year's competition held in Grandola, Portugal as did he and his England colleagues who were beaten on countback in an exciting final.

Steven who won both the individual and the team world title two years ago in Barcelona, caught 72 fish in the four match final mainly comprising of bream and golden grey mullet using his Fox multi tip Conqueror rod, but like his four colleagues couldn't strike gold this time.

Five teams were separated by just one point in one of the tightest finishes there has been with three countries finishing on 13 points.

However, Spain claimed the title on countback from England with Italy third. France pipped Portugal for fourth place one point further back.

Steven's teammates comprised of Callum Graham (Bournemouth), Daniel Stote (Lymington), Michael Dawkins (Lymington) and David Morris (Deal). The manager was Chris Clark from Sway who was assisted by Andrew Dawkins from Lymington.

The team would like to thanks Tronixpro for financial assistance, Fox International for multi tip rods, Ian Houlton of Moonfleet Angling supplies for fluoro carbon hook line and Kamasan for B541 fine wire spade end size 8 and 10 hooks, which gave them the cutting edge.

Oliver lands Fred Tolley Trophy

ALTHOUGH nine juniors contested the Fred Tolley Memorial Trophy fish on Saturday, the first junior match of the year, only four managed to catch any.

Oliver Mears with 190g including the heaviest flat fish, a flounder weighing 90g and a 39g sea scorpion which won them the heaviest round fish prize, won the trophy from Ellis Mcuollough whose total haul was 64g.

Jake Preston was third with 37g of fish whilst Shaun Taylor, the only other angler to catch anything won the first fish prize with his 36g flounder.

All the fish went back alive after being weighed.

The weather was sunny with a light sea breeze, with the calm sea becoming choppy.

Prizes were donated by The Old Watchhouse Café, Kay Guppy, Kirsty Hallett and Tiny.

If anybody would like to fish the Saturday Junior matches, you will need to be under 17 years old on 1st January 2010.

You may fish two matches as a guest upon payment of the entry fee of £1.00, if after this you wish to fish more matches, you will need to join the club, forms available from the Angling Centre West Bay or phone the Secretary on 01308 421272 and he will send you a form.

BOB BUCKLER RACING NATIONAL DISAPPOINTMENT NICHE' PULLS UP TWO FROM HOME

AFTER all the hype in the run up to the Grand National, the reality was disappointment for Bob Buckler and the highly fancied Niche Market who was eventually pulled up two fences from home.

Last year's Irish Grand National winner was expected to run well at Aintree but sustained a leg injury early on that effectively put paid to his chances as the race began to reach its climax.

Buckler was naturally disappointed but pleased at how well his horse had run in the circumstances.

"He had obviously been caught by another horse's foot when he landed at one of the fences, maybe the fifth, as he had a big chunk out of his hind leg when he finished.

"It looks like another horse had chopped into the back of his leg and it was quite deep; we couldn't stitch it on the course because of all the muck in the wound, and had to bring him home and do it the following day.

"Despite that he ran a really good race and it was only when the race quickened after Beecher's second time that he began to feel it. He was sore and a bit lame at the end.

"The idea was for Harry (Skelton) to keep him wide and give him some daylight, and he was very well positioned, being ninth and the end of the first circuit and tenth at Beecher's second time around, but then he began to feel the wound and Harry nursed him back.

The injury means that the horse will not run again this season. "He may have had one more run but the wound will take a long time to heal so he will now have time to recover."

Asked if he would be aimed at next year's race Buckler replied: "Yes definitely."

There was also disappointment when Mizzurka failed to show in the John Smith's Mares' Standard Open Nh Flat Race on Friday.

Under the guidance of A P McCoy, who next day won his first Grand National at the fifteenth attempt aboard Don't Push It, the six-year-old made the pace. However the ground was too firm for her and when she started to lose her place two furlongs from home he eased right back on her.

"She hated the ground; it was too fast for her. She needed softer ground and she never really let go as the ground was jarring her. In the circumstances AP wishes he had not gone on quite so early, but he eased her right down when she started to lose ground. She finished with sore shins, and like Niche Market will not run again this season."

TIZZARD TAKES 10th

MILBORNE Port trainer Colin Tizzard had more success with 33/1 shot Joe Lively ridden by his son Joe in the Grand National.

They finished a creditable tenth of only 14 finishers after losing their place at the 18th fence but fought back through the field to be beaten a short head for ninth by Tricky Trickster.

DORSET COUNTY CRICKET

Positives despite defeat

Hampshire 2nd's 307-6 beat

Dorset 238-8by 69 runs

DORSET team manager Sean Walbridge whilst disappointed in losing to Hampshire 2nd's on Sunday, felt that there were more positives than negatives to take from the game.

Dorset failed by 69 runs to overtake their host's total of 307-6 in the 50 over match held at the Rose Bowl Nursery Ground.

"I feel there are a few things we can tighten up on, but there were more positives than negatives we can take from the game."

James Vince top scored for the County Championship Division 1's second team with 127 off 116 balls, and was well supported by James Bates (42) and Shahid Afridi's brother who has joined the club this summer, who hit a quickfire 72 off just 42 balls.

Seamer Ed Denham was the best of Dorset's bowlers claiming 3-68.

In reply opener Glyn Treagus hit 41 but it was the return of Darren Cowley who missed all of last season with a broken ankle that must have pleased Walbridge most. He top scored with 64 with support for Aaron Williams who hit 34.

Walbridge has selected the following 12 to play against a Dorset League XI on Sunday at Dean Park (start 11am): Glyn Treagus; Nick Park; Josh Lawrence; Chris Morgan; Darren Cowley; David Taylor; Chris Park (c) (wk); Matt Metcalfe; Simon Watkins; Ed Denham; Henry Turner; Paul Warren. Scorer - Chris Drew Shipton Gorge B 25 Preston B 10 Shipton Gorge B maintained their push for the Second Division title with a resounding victory over mid table Preston B.

Ron Tucknott led the way with a maximum nine points, closely followed by Jim Saunders who picked up eight. This pair, who also took the doubles 3-0, is consistently performing at a high level and look set to see out the season at one and two.

The competition for the third spot is keen and Dave Poole kept his hat in the ring with a useful five points. With a number of fine reserves on the bench prospects look good for the run in.

DOM GRABS LATE GLORY FOR BEES

WEYMOUTH SPORTS 2 BRIDPORT RESERVES 3 DORSET SENIOR TROPHY CUP FINAL At Weymouth FC

DOMINIC McAllister came off the bench for the second time in 48 hours to seal victory for Bridport Reserves and lift the Dorset Senior Trophy at the Wessex Stadium on Wednesday.

On Monday he scored the winner against Blandford United after the Bees had trailed 2-0 at the interval, and then popped up a minute from time to snatch the Dorset Senior Trophy from Weymouth Sports.

Sub McAllister had badgered manager Mike Savage to put him on, claiming that he would score the winner for him, and he justified his manager's decision nine minutes later when he latched on to Sam Day's long ball over the top to neatly tuck his shot under Sports keeper Tony Wyatt.

Losing finalists last year, Bridport looked as if they might again finishes as bridesmaid's as they laboured through a first half that saw Sports take the lead when Robbie Rolls picked up Paul Cole's diagonal ball over the leaden footed Bee's defence.

However Weymouth failed to capitalise, and Bridport picked their game up a little and created a couple of half chances of their own before Ashley Clarke beat Wyatt to brother Ben's headed flick to nod the ball over the advancing Sports gloveman.

Sports player-assistant manager was then dismissed for a reckless challenge when he jumped in on Ash Clarke just before the break.

Being a man short didn't appear to affect them though as they took the lead again when Tom Coggins let a through ball run under his foot, allowing Sports skipper Andy Cleal to control the ball before swivelling and drilling a shot beyond Mark Tozer and in off the post from 20-yards.

This seemed to spark Bridport and they started to make the extra man count and Carl Bulman's inswinging corner had to be headed off the line by Ben MacConnachie.

They equalised just after the hour when Wyatt failed to hold Day's free-kick and virtually scooped the ball on to Ben Clarke's head for a simple goal.

Sports were reduced to nine men just after McAllister's winner when player-manager Stev Alcock was straight red-carded for foul and abusive language, obviously disappointed with his side's display.

Bees manager Savage said: "Although we didn't play that well, we did enough to win, and it's a great relief after losing in last year's final.

"We weren't great in the first half but did improve after the break. As often happens we found it difficult playing against ten men.

"Dom (McAllister) hounded me to let him get on and to be fair he did what he said he would!

"Hopefully this, and Monday's win will lift the lads and give them some confidence going into the tail end of the season."

On Monday Bridport Reserves came back from being two goals down at the break to beat Blandford United and record their first league win since early November.

With games running out Savage's charges need to pick up some more victories to pull away from the bottom of the Dorset Premier League.

Tristan Gale scored with his first touch in his first game for the Bees this season before Chris Gale scored his first goal for the club pouncing on a rebound after the visiting keeper had parried Ben Clarke's shot, before they snatched all three points when McAllister scored.

Magpies don't get rub of green DORCHESTER TOWN 0 CHELMSFORD CITY 3 Blue Square South - Attendance: 525

WHILST Chelmsford City spoil Dorchester Town chairman Shaun Hearn's 42nd birthday celebrations by taking the points, he would not have been disappointed by his side's performance.

The Magpies, who were defending an unbeaten home run stretching back ten games to last November, were the better side for long periods of the match.

However on three occasions they failed to get the vital rub of the green which could have changed the outcome of the match, and left the visitors almost certainities for the Blue Square South play-offs.

After an absorbing first 20 minutes played mainly in midfield, the nearest either side came to scoring was when Ricky Holmes turned on the corner of the penalty area to fire in a snap shot that flew across the face of Regan Coward's goal and beyond the far post.

Chelmsford's first slice of luck came when Gary Bowles rose highest to Steve Devlin's corner at the far post, but his header struck the underside of the bar, bounced down on the line and was hacked away.

Dorchester continued to have the better of the play and the Clarets keeper Ashley Harrison almost gave the Magpies the lead when he misjudged his jump to Josh Llewellyn's bouncing pass when challenged by Ryan Moss and just managed to grab the ball before it went over the line.

Then on 37 minutes the game came alive as Chelmsford put together their first piece of sustained pressure on the home defence. First Oliver Berquez failed to get enough force behind his header following a goalmouth scramble before Ricky Modeste's exquisite cross only needed a touch as it flashed across the six-yard box. However a minute later Chelmsford took the lead when Holmes set up Warren McBean with a superb diagonal ball and the former Bromley striker drilled the ball under Coward for his second goal for his new club.

Two minutes later Holmes almost added another but Coward did well to turn his 25-yard screamer away.

To add to Dorchester's misery they then suffered a second blow a minute later when Mark Jermyn hooked the ball into the box but Nathan Walker's header bounced on top of the crossbar and over with Harrison once gain beaten.

Dorchester would have felt aggrieved that the woodwork had thwarted them again but there was more misery for them in the added minute of the half when Berquez put the Clarets two up. McBean controlled Anthony Finn's low cross but Coward blocked his close range shot only for the ball to bounce to Jimmy Greaves' future son-in-law to hook home and potentially kill the game.

Dorchester started the second-half by bombarding the Chelmsford goal and Neil Martin had a great opportunity just three minutes after the resumption when he picked up a ball played across the top of the penalty area, but he badly miscues his shot which went well wide of goal.

Then, the third defining moment of the match. Martin picked out Walker with a cross after Chelmsford failed to clear a free kick, but the big defender could only head the ball straight at Harrison from three yards when a fraction either side would have got Dorchester back into the game.

Martin then had his shot blocked after Walker had headed the ball into his path.

Chelmsford's defence somehow survived with a series of frantic and unsophisticated clearances denoting a side under real pressure.

Manager Ashley Vickers introduced Nick Crittenden on the hour to see if he could unlock the Clarets defence which looked like it could crack at any moment.

However an injury to Kyle Critchell effectively put paid to any Dorchester revival. He injured himself as he attempted a shot at goal from 20-yards on 71 minutes forcing Vickers to switch to a back three and tuck sub James Coutts in behind the front two.

The Magpies never looked the same side again and the game drifted to its conclusion as both sides cancelled each other out.

Dorchester suffered another injury, this time to Ryan Hill who suffered an ankle injury in a challenge with Modeste just a minute from time, before Holmes rubbed salt into the wound two minutes into added time when he got a lucky rebound as he cut along the right byeline. However he turned it to his advantage by moving the ball to his left foot before beating Coward with an acute high angled shot.

The result does not reflect how much closer this match was, and despite their much higher league position, the big spending Essex side were lucky to come away with all three points.

Terras show spirit at Crabble

DOVER ATHLETIC 2 WEYMOUTH 0 Blue Square South - Attendance: 1,022

DESPITE a superb rearguard display by Weymouth that frustrated play-off candidates Dover Athletic, the Terras returned from The Crabble pointless.

Behind to a ninth-minute goal the Terras fought hard but succumbed to a second strike in added time.

Having already denied Adam Birchall when he got down to block his angled shot, young Weymouth keeper Michael Neish was deceived by his angled free-kick that curled through a crowded goalmouth and inside his left hand post to give the Whites the lead.

Skipper Simon Radcliffe then came to the Terras rescue on 19 minutes when he first blocked Nicky Southall's volley before clearing Birchall's header from the corner off the line.

Neish then spread himself to block Sammy Moore's shot with his knees, before Birchall hit the post from an acute angle and Radcliffe once more cleared a shot off his line all before the break.

In a bizarre moment ten minutes in Stephen Reed caught the ball in his own penalty area, but with the hosts demanding a spot-kick for his action, the referee eventually gave a drop-ball much to everyone's amazement.

Dover continued to dominate with Weymouth barely able to break over the halfway line and Neish once more had to be at his best to palm away a thunderous shot from Birchall.

Weymouth's first real chance of the match came 12 minutes from time but Shane Evans poked Reed's headed pass over the bar from six-yards.

Dover responded with Olly Schult's looping header coming back off the crossbar before Reed overran the ball as he broke into the Dover box and Ross Flitney dived at his feet to smother the ball.

Cloke then headed Birchall's cross against Neish's left hand post before Dover scored the goal their pressure deserved in added time when Moore converted another Birchall cross with a diving header.

Keynsham fight back foils Bees

BRIDPORT 4 KEYNSHAM TOWN 4 Toolstation Division One - Attendance: 60

DESPITE a Sam Charles hat trick Chelmsford could not hang on to three goal lead at St Mary's Field on Wednesday and had to settle for a point against high-rising Keynsham Town.

Just like Manchester United, whose Champions League quarter-final meant this goal feast was only watched by a crowd of 60, the Bees stormed into a three goal lead inside the first half hour and looked to be coasting to three points.

But like their illustrious counterparts they conceded just before the break and although Charles completed his hat trick to restore the three goal advantage, the Bristol side bombarded the home defence and got their just desserts with a spirited second-half display and a share of the spoils.

Charles had given the Bees an second minute lead when he stooped to head home Darren Watts' cross, and when Jamie Symes exquisitely stroked home a 20-yard shot into the top corner when Chris Senior set him up following a four man move down the right, it looked like Bridport's night.

It got better when Charles tucked home the third following a corner.

Keynsham are a very direct side and they began to get into the game and pulled one back when Chris Durbin headed home a cross right on halftime. This stunned the Bees and they had to hang on until the break as Keynsham poured forward, and the referees whistle was a welcome relief.

However they looked to have recovered as Charles completed his second hat-trick for the club when he finished another good move soon after the resumption. Senior battled down the right channel before passing the ball inside to Dan Wise who switched it to Charles. He took one touch before driving it home left footed.

Keynsham responded by bombarding the Bees goal and despite some heroic defending it was only a matter of time before they were breached and Rob Sheriton grabbed a brace to put them back in the game.

Only a brilliant reaction save from visiting gloveman Chris Astley prevented Senior sealing the points for Bridport. The tall makeshift striker met Jamie Symes cross perfectly but somehow Ashley got to the ball to push it to safety.

Jake Coggins then nabbed an equaliser for Keynsham to round off an eventful match.

Manager Trevor Senior said: "Sam took his goals well and showed what a good finisher he is. Whilst there are areas of his game he needs to work on, you can't knock the fact he has scored nine goals in eight games.

"To be fair to Keynsham they put us under an awful lot of pressure in the second half and probably deserved a point."

Mindful of the busy schedule ahead, Ryan Hayter will start on the bench for tomorrow's match at Odd Down, and will only play if necessary. "His shoulder is still painful and I don't want to risk him unnecessarily. Ashley Clarke will deputise for him," said Senior.

Darren Watts is another victim having picked up an ankle injury against Keynsham and will not play, but Roger Cummings is now available after suspension and will take his place, whilst Jamie Fry will resume goalkeeping duties in place of Andy Suttle who has deputised for him in the last two matches, and now returns to play for Dorchester U18s.

Off day at Odd Down

ODD DOWN 4 BRIDPORT 1 Toolstation Division One - Attendance: 46

THE SCORELINE does not reflect the situation at the Lew Memorial Ground where a below par Bridport suffered what on paper appears a heavy defeat.

Despite Odd Down sitting second behind Wells City in the Premier League, Bridport could and perhaps should have done better than concede three second half goals after Sam Charles had levelled for the Bees five minutes before halftime.

Ryan Hayter's shoulder injury meant he only made the bench, whilst Darren Watts did not travel at all because of an ankle injury, and both players ability to contain was sadly missed after the break.

Matt Rawlings hit the cross bar on 15 minutes for the hosts before Dave Cooper put them ahead midway through the half when his cross evaded everybody and crept just inside the far post.

Charles equalised when he chased a ball down the right channel and beat a defender before lobbing the keeper from the corner of the penalty box with an exquisite diagonal shot.

Despite manager Trevor Senior's belief that they could go on and win during the halftime team talk, they conceded a second five after the restart. They lost the ball on the halfway line and Charlie Owen crossed the ball for Matt Rawlings to give the hosts the lead.

They increased their advantage when Ashley Clarke needlessly fouled his opponent who was going nowhere, and a quickly taken Dave Cooper free kick caught the Bees defence off guard and Mark Keen had a simple task to score the third.

Their fourth 20 minutes from the end was rather fortuitous when Simon Charity chipped the ball over the Bees defence for Rawlings. He hooked the ball into his face as he attempted to control it, but then reacted first to chip keeper Jamie Fry.

Dan Jones did have a 25-yard shot superbly saved by the home gloveman but this was all Bridport had to offer as Odd Down ran out easy winners.

Bees champs after Sturminster demolition BRIDPORT 7 STURMINSTER NEWTON 2

BRIDPORT demolished title contenders Sturminster Newton in the final match of the season with a stirring first-half display that ensured there would only be one winner.

In front of a crowd of over one hundred Bridport produced a passionate display, and with the Scadding twins in commanding form at the back and Jedd Holt terrorising the visiting defence up front took a 4-0 interval lead.

Sturminster improved after the break and pulled a goal back but the introduction of Jake Rowland adding his pace on the wing and Riley Weedon controlling midfield, Bridport pushed onto an emphatic 7-2 win and to be crowned league champions.

Mark and Lee would like to thank all the lads and parents for there support this season, and to all the supporters who have come along and cheered on the team.

RUGBY ROUND-UP

NARROW WIN SEALS RUNNERS-UP SPOT FOR WEYMOUTH

I WOULD, given the choice, rather not drink at Last Chance Saloons, for the quality of their product is, generally speaking, not great.

I could not resist however, travelling to watch Sidmouth's final league game of the season, knowing that, if they were bested by visitors, Cullompton, they would be relegated from the South West league Division One (West).

Even a win would not guarantee their safety but would leave them watching anxiously to see if other results went their way.

As it happened, they ended the day safe, having come out on top in their contest and being fortunate in that their main rivals lost.

NORTH DORSET 2nd Nil, BRIDPORT 36pts
BRIDPORT, with the divisional championship well and truly won, entered this game, quite understandably, in a rather experimental frame of mind, trying out several new plays at the set piece. It was perhaps not surprising that their set piece had difficulties early on and they therefore made heavy weather of the win for part of the game.

Nevertheless they always had matters well in hand after they had taken a lead via a Hawkes-Welstead unconverted try after some thirteen minutes' play.

They increased their lead with a Wes Lewis penalty goal a few minutes later and, after some half an hour's play they went through the phases after winning lineout possession, creating space for out half Gaylor who got in under the posts. Lewis added the extras to give his side a 15 point lead at the halfway stage.

North Dorset were certainly in the ascendancy for much of the third quarter and were perhaps a little unlucky not to score, but Bridport broke the shackles around the hour mark when full back Lewis came into the line after his pack had won a lineout. He created an overlap and winger Swatridge touched down near the posts. Lewis converted and Bridport were clear at 22-0 ahead.

They were playing with more fluency now against a side that had shot its bolt and, with fifteen minutes left, Gaylor put centre Croft clear and he touched down for Lewis to convert.

Then, with what was the final play of the game, Lewis again came into the line and again created an overlap for Swatridge who touched down out wide. Lewis converted this final try from near touch and Bridport had cruised to a comfortable win.

BRIDPORT 2nd 27pts,
NORTH DORSET 30pts

THIS game was as even as the final score suggests, with the lead changing hands and never more than a few points separating the sides. In fact the visitors were leading 27-20 with time running out before an excellent individual try by Harry Ewart, converted by Jason Kidd, levelled the scores.

It was not to be Bridport's day however for, in the final minute a moment of madness saw them concede a penalty that North Dorset duly converted to edge the result.

BLANDFORD 19pts, WEYMOUTH 24pts

WEYMOUTH confirmed their runners-up spot in the Dorset & Wilts League Division One (South) with a narrow win against a side whose strength was in its back row.

In fact the scores were tied at 14-14 at the half way stage before two unconverted tries by Weymouth to one by their opponents edged the visitors to the win.

The surprise of the day however was the score line of the Weymouth second side's game against its Blandford counterparts. Seemingly Weymouth came out on top in this one by a distance, scoring 64 points to their opponents' 14.

BRADFORD ON AVON 13pts,
DORCHESTER 23pts

DORCHESTER would have approached this game with a modicum of diffidence. True they had beaten these opponents quite comfortably at home earlier in the season but, Bradford on Avon, although starting the campaign as favourites for relegation, had competed well enough and, although currently residing very much in the bottom half of the table, would have been fighting to maintain their league status.

Additionally, Dorchester had not played for a couple of weeks and I do seem to remember that there is a very real difference between fitness, and match fitness.

Any doubts there might have been were not realised however. After a performance that was more workmanlike than inspired, the visitors came out on top by a couple of scores and remain on course for a top half of the table finish to their league season; a position that they would readily have accepted back in September.

In fact it was a pretty good day all round for the Dorchester club, with their second side running out comfortable winners against visitors South Wilts by the margin of 38 points to 22.

PREVIEW

ALL three local sides end their respective league seasons on Saturday next.

I do remember DORCHESTER travelling to Saturday's opponents CORSHAM, in fear and trembling rather, way back in September at the start of their league campaign.

They returned of course with a comfortable win which set them up for a good round of results that, in the long term, has ensured them of mid table finish in the Southern Counties League (South). I think that they will finish their season too, on a high note and will run out winners on the day.

BRIDPORT, already assured of Southern Counties rugby next season, will nevertheless be wanting to end their season with a win and I think they will do so. They take on OAK-MEDIANS 2nd at the Brewery Ground, a side who have fallen away in recent weeks, after occupying a challenging place in the Dorset & Wilts League Division One (South) earlier in the season.

WEYMOUTH, for its part, ends the season with a home game against SWANAGE & WAREHAM 2nd.

A difficult game to assess is this one, for although Weymouth came out on top by some thirty points early in the season, their opponents, although occasionally blowing hot and cold results wise, currently lie in the division's third place, just one spot below the home side.

I do not know if a play off will take place for promotion out of the division at the season's end. If it does, then Weymouth could well figure in it. In any event they will be wanting to end their campaign with a win and I think that they will do just that.

As to the second sides, Dorchester seconds probably end the season with the hardest game of the three. They play Bournemouth thirds who have a possible play off place in mind.

Bridport seconds will, I suspect, be less than satisfied with their season, but face a side in Swanage & Wareham thirds who, like themselves, lie in the mid-table of their division. Weymouth seconds in their last game, have an opportunity to haul themselves out of the basement spot. They face Swanage & Wareham 4ths, the side immediately above them.

FIXTURES 17th April - Bridport v Oakmedians 2nd; Bridport 2nd v Swanage 2nd; Chard 2nd v Wellington 2nd; Chard 3rd v Weston Super mare 3rd; Crewkerne v Pool Game; Dorchester v Corsham; Dorchester 2nd v Bournemouth 3rd (away); Honiton v Devonport High School Old Boys; Weymouth v Swanage & Wareham 2nd; Weymouth 2nd v Swanage & Wareham 4th (away).

RECRUITS FOR GIRLS TEAM WANTED

Under 8s: THE Under 8's played two matches against their counterparts at Twickenham with both sides winning a game each writes Chris Davis.

The first game was dominated by the attacking teams with Weymouth scoring eight tries to Twickenham's six. Scorers for Weymouth were Henry Bell (3), James Dobson, Jack Hayward (2), Robert Hunter and Finlay Hutt. Harry Philpott (guesting) scored for Twickenham.

The second game was tighter with a few turnovers, and Twickenham won this one by three tries to one. Kit Harvey was Weymouth's only scorer whilst Robert Hunter, guesting for Twickenham scored one of their tries.

Player-of-the-week was awarded to Kit Harvey whose straight running helped focus the attack which sometimes had been going sideways.

WEYMOUTH U11 24 ABERCWMBOI 19

WEYMOUTH started well with a try from the kick off when James Davis caught the ball and avoided all of the defenders to score in the corner which went unconverted.

Abercwmboi came back immediately and scored a converted try, but from the long restart Weymouth put the Abercwmboi defenders under pressure which resulted in Fraser Barnes crossing for a well earned unconverted try.

Weymouth continued to attack with Morgan Wyatt scoring a converted try and Troy Brocklebank crossing near the end with the conversion being scored by Henry Arnold. Abercwmboi added two more tries (one converted) but Weymouth finished worthy winners.

WEYMOUTH U14 17 NORTH DORSET 22

In a fantastic advertisement for rugby this keenly fought contest saw North Dorset take the win but they were pushed all the way.

Weymouth started the stronger with the forwards running hard but were dealt a blow when wing, Jake Keenan who had started the match with two crunching tackles broke his arm. This seemed to disrupt the side and North Dorset took advantage with their own winger scoring two tries to go into the break 10-0 up.

The second-half saw a third try for the visitors before Weymouth's outstanding number 8 Jake Guilford powered over twice following powerful runs. With hooker Jason Hoskins in the thick of the action and Charlie Parkinson making good ground in the centre it was against the run of play that North Dorset broke left and outflanked the desperate covering of tireless second row Lee Williamson.

Weymouth once again came back and following some terrific rugby, flanker Tom Glynn finished off the move with the touch down which centre Ryan Price converted.

Credit must be given to both teams for a truly entertaining game played in a great spirit in which Hoskin was named Man-of-the-Match.

PRICELESS POINT BOOSTS LYME TITLE HOPES

LYME Regis manager Robin Townsend declared himself: "happy with a point, although..." after returning to the Davey Fort having seen his charges hold Perry Street Premier Division rivals South Petherton to a 0-0 draw at Lightgate Lane.

Despite Malcolm Darby hooking a goalbound effort off the line in dying moments, Townsend felt his side had created the better chances and had just about down enough to have shaded a win. "It wasn't the greatest game ever but I would have taken a point before kick-off.

The result saw the Seaside's front line draw a blank for the first time in 38 matches - but at the other end Ashley Caddy and his defenders shut-out the high scoring Pethy attack for the third time this season.

Beaminster leapfrogged over Lyme and back to pole position with a 3-0 win over Ilminster Reserves - but having played two games more - Townsend and his squad still have their eyes fixed firmly on Petherton and the possible Championship decider at the Fort to follow.

First things first and the Seaside's must not let things slip as they face a busy week with three games in five days; last night (Tuesday) they were due to visit Charmouth for a local derby with home games against White Horse tomorrow (Thursday) and Perry Street (Saturday) to follow.

Lyme Reserves remain on the foot of Division One after 4-3 home defeat at the hands of Forton Rangers and will hope for better from tonight's visit of Netherbury (6.15pm ko). On Saturday the Reserves will be aiming for a quarter-final place in the Daisy Hutchings cup when they take to the road to meet Division Two outfit Hinton.

A 2-2 draw at Crewkerne Reserves means Lyme Bantams are still unbeaten in the League in 2010. The Lyme third string can look forward to a local derby at Millway Rise Reserves at the weekend.

Youngster Adam Neale scored twice but Uplyme still went down 4-3 at home to Beaminster Reserves. The Swallows will have their shooting boots on next Saturday as they visit struggling Drimpton.

Charmouth's seemingly inevitable relegation was confirmed on Saturday as they were beaten 3-0 by Merriott Rovers. The Robins entertain league leaders Beaminster at the weekend.

Charmouth Reserves have two chances to avoid the league's wooden spoon starting with a trip the Netherbury to take on promotion-chasing Waytown Hounds.

◆ Lyme Regis U12s, already crowned as champions of Dorset League Division Two, moved nine points clear at the top with a 7-0 victory over bottom of the table Corfe Castle.

PINPOINT ACCURACY

◆ CURLER: Lyme Regis Reserves' defender Ally Rattenbury bends home a free-kick, via the foot of the post, for The Seaside's in Saturday's 4-3 defeat by Forton Rangers in Saturday's Perry Street League Division One clash at the Davey Fort.
